LUM TO SEEK RECOUNT AFTER CURTIS VICTORY

Ed Lum told the Times at noon today he planned to apply this afternoon for a recount in Saturday's Saanich by-election.

Mr. Lum, who apparently won, then lost by 122 votes his bid to become reeve, said he wants the recount "just to satisfy everybody."

Former councillor Hugh Curtis was declared winner after a ballot count mixup late Saturday night. See story on Page 21.

Canadian Trade Hit Hard By British Import Curbs

B.C. Forest Industry Gets Blow

By FRANK RUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

B.C.'s export trade will be seriously hurt by a new 15 per cent British surcharge, Trade Minister Ralph Loffmark said today.

"This is a sad day for us," he said.

"The B.C. economy is going to suffer because our largest exports have been in the fields in which controls are being imposed."

Hardest hit will be the forest industry.

B.C. last year sold $147 million worth of goods to Britain—most of them forest products.

In return B.C. bought only $17 million worth of British produce.

SLIPPED NOTICE

Britain has already slipped from B.C.'s number two customer to number three, he added.

"This decline is going to accelerate," he predicted.

Mr. Loffmark said B.C. faces increasing tariffs everywhere, and it will be increasingly hard to find overseas markets.

"The answer is for Canada, the U.S. and Britain to get together and make a new effort to bring down tariffs and increase mutual trade," he said.

"The protective greenhouse wall of tariffs produces an artificially weak plant."

Last year B.C. sold $41.8 million worth of lumber to Britain.

It sold $20 million worth of pulp products and $23 million worth of aluminum—all things which will be affected by the new British Labor government's surcharge.

15% Surcharge Put Into Effect

LONDON (CP) — Britain's new socialist government, trying to head off a currency exchange crisis, today imposed an extra 15-per-cent duty on all imports with the exception of food, basic raw materials and unmanufactured tobacco.

At the same time it opened negotiations to make a huge draw of credit from the International Monetary Fund and announced plans to provide exporters with a small tax rebate—averaging about 1½ per cent of the value of exports—to stimulate more sales abroad.

Canadian officials estimated the 15-per-cent extra duty will hit about $350,000,000 worth of Canadian exports a year. Canadian shipments total about $1,000,000,000 annually.

REACHES ALL-TIME HIGH

They estimated that Britain's deficit in international payments—the balance between money coming into the country and the amount going out—would reach an all-time high of up to $800,000,000 this year. This deficit forecast is more than double what the previous administration had estimated.

Conservative Reginald Maudling, former chancellor of the exchequer, maintained that the estimated 1964 payments deficit includes "an element of exaggeration."

He told a press conference the forecast deficit, which would range to the equivalent of about $2,400,000,000 did not make allowance for important balancing items.

Apart from that, he seemed to be in general agreement with the principle of temporary restrictions, though he said he would have waited another month or two before reaching a decision to impose the curbs.

In fact, he added, he as chancellor made arrangements for imposing the curbs while the Conservatives were in power. He suggested the curbs should be removed as quickly as possible and not remain more than a year or two.

Economics Minister George Brown and Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan, who announced the new steps at a press conference, described the measures as short-term and temporary but declined to say just how many years they would last.

It meant that Britain once again was in deep economic trouble, buying more than she is selling and lacking ability to attract substantial long-term investment in this country.

"All this calls for immediate but strictly temporary action, drastic at first but less so as both the immediate measures and the longer-term policies Continued on Page 2

Huge Mill Scheduled For Island

A $60 million pulp mill will be built at Gold River on Vancouver Island's west coast, Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced today.

Work will start Feb. 1 and the mill will be in operation within two years.

The mill will be built as a joint venture by the Canadian International Paper Co. of Montreal—largest in Canada—and East Asiatic Co. of Vancouver.

It will be in the name of Tahsis Co., at present a subsidiary of East Asiatic, with large timber holdings on the island.

COMMERCIAL CENTRE

The project will make Gold River the commercial centre of the west coast, Mr. Bennett said.

The mill will have an initial capacity of 750 tons of pulp per day.

Eventually it will be expanded for "diversified products," Mr. Bennett said.

It will employ up to 500 people with an additional 300 loggers in the woods.

They will live in what the premier called "a new model town" at Gold River.

It will be planned jointly by the company and municipal affairs department.

But it will not be a "company town," Mr. Bennett said. It will be open for general public development—a tremendous boost to the west coast's economy.

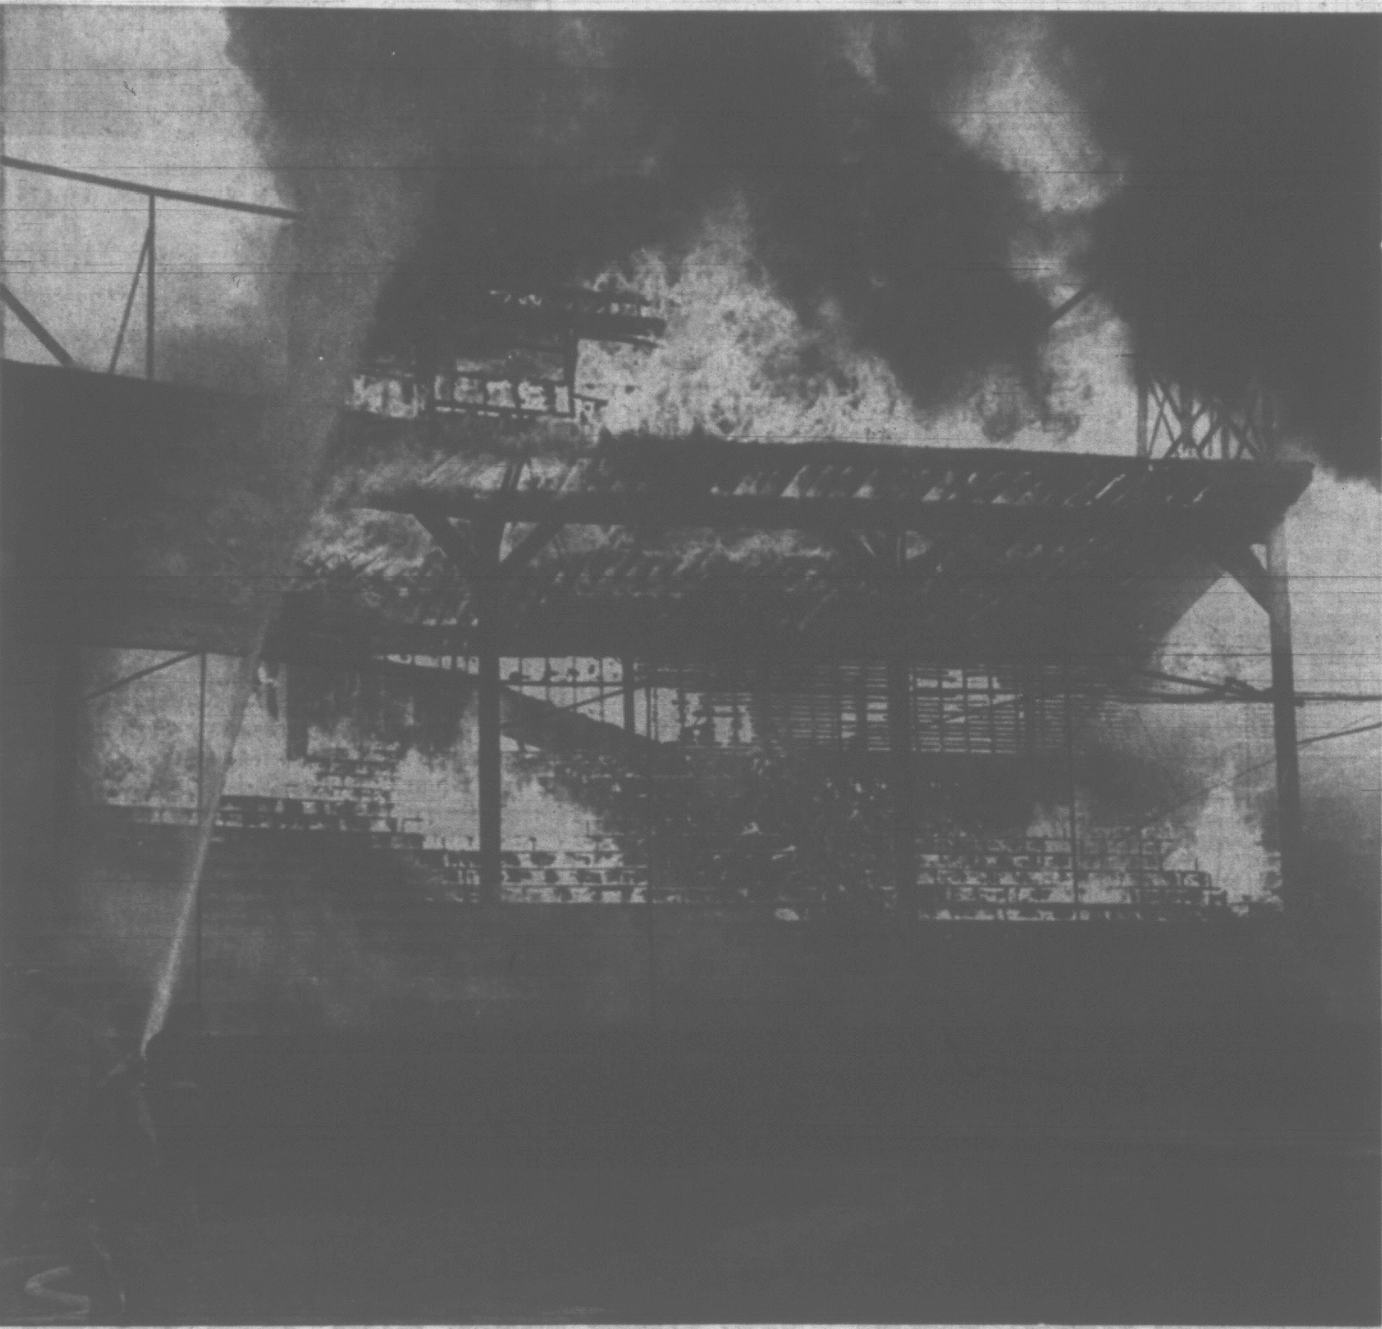

The project will also mean construction of a power transmission line from Campbell River to the mill site.

Gold River is 38 miles west of Courtenay, at the head of Metchosin Inlet off historic Nootka Sound. It is connected to Campbell River by highway, part of which was built by the East Asiatic company as a logging road at a cost of $2,000,000 for an eight-mile stretch.

HIGHWAY HINTED

The premier said the government will "take steps to see to a highway"—now a private road running east-west across the island.

Park Grandstand Ravaged by Flames

$100,000 Loss Blamed On Fireworks

By DESMOND BILL

Youngsters playing with firecrackers are being blamed for a $100,000 fire in the city Sunday afternoon. The blaze destroyed the grandstand in Royal Athletic Park in less than an hour.

If youngsters didn't cause the blaze then it must have been deliberately set, according to fire department officials.

The fire started in the bleachers to the west of the old wooden grandstand. Underground passages running beneath the grandstand from the west to east bleachers acted like a wind tunnel carrying the fire.

And the blaze was fuelled by plastic and rubber hoses stored under the grandstand. The fire had taken firm hold.

U.S. MOVES N-BOMBERS NEARER CHINA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has posted a squadron of 15 B-52 heavy jet nuclear bombers on the island of Guam—within about 1,000 miles of Red China, it was learned today.

The unpublicized move, made last spring, places the 15 B-52s about 5,000 miles closer to China than when they were based in the United States.

The squadron sent to Guam replaces a unit of older medium jet B-47 bombers. B-52s have at least twice the striking range and carry much more of an atomic wallop than the B-47s. The B-52s also fly faster and higher.

PROBE AGREED

CNR Postpones Cut-Back Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — The CNR has agreed to a federal cabinet proposal to put off its controversial run-through program at Nakina, Ont., and Wainwright, Alta., it was announced today.

Prime Minister Pearson said in a statement the federal government will appoint a special commissioner to study the CNR's run-through proposal.

A report would be made within three months, either freeing the publicly-owned railway to go ahead with its plan immediately or establishing a period of time for gradual implementation.

Mr. Pearson said CNR President Donald Gordon has agreed to withdraw the run-through proposal and withhold action on it until the examination of it by the commissioner.

The CNR began its run-throughs Saturday night at Nakina and Wainwright. The move prompted protest action by CNR employees who booked off sick, thus hampering freight and passenger operations.

A railway spokesman in Winnipeg said it was hoped that normal passenger service would be resumed as soon as possible.

Soviet Regime Seeks 'Alliance of Equals'

MOSCOW (UPI) — The new Soviet regime today reassured its Communist partners that it intends to treat them as equals and not as underlings.

The assurance following disclosure of surprise talks in Poland between the new Soviet leaders and their Polish counterparts. Diplomats said the talks were aimed at showing Communist east European countries that Nikita Khrushchev's ouster will not mean tighter control from Moscow.

The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia today published an editorial entitled "Alliance of the Equal" while the Kremlin moved to calm eastern European jitters over Soviet policy after the fall of Khrushchev.

FLAG COMMITTEE CHOOSES DARK HORSE DESIGN

Red Borders, One Leaf Gets Nod

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—A dark horse design of one red maple leaf on white with vertical red borders appears to have won a majority agreement in the 15-member parliamentary flag committee, an informed source said Sunday.

The source said the decision was taken in a vote last Thursday which gave the red and white design the edge by a 10-to-4 margin over two others which had been culled from thousands in the past few weeks.

The voting lineup was said to be six Liberals, one Conservative and the three minority party representatives favoring the single leaf with the remaining Conservatives opposed. The seventh Liberal, committee chairman Herman Batten, traditionally would be asked to vote only in the event of a tie.

The source said the government flag with its three red maple leaves and blue borders and another design containing a maple leaf, Union Jack and Fleur de Lis were eliminated in an initial vote which gave the single leaf unanimous committee support.

However, four Tories then backed away from the decision to formally recommend the design as Canada's distinctive national flag, the source said.

It is understood that the committee is scheduled to meet again before bringing down its report to the Commons Thursday.

Although the single leaf design may be the one recommended as Canada's flag, further meetings could leave the door open for continued negotiations and possibly greater unanimity.

There was no indication whether some change might be recommended to the government's resolution calling for the Union Jack to be flown for the Crown and Commonwealth.

Telephone calls to some committee members at the weekend were met by a wall of silence. They refused to confirm or deny that a decision had been reached and one would not even say whether the committee was planning to meet again.

From th' reaction t' Britain's new trade policy, y'd think it wuz theft, not thrift.

Tain't th' first time th' stands went wild at th' Athletic Park.

Saanich byelection proved once again th' ev'ry vote counts.

New Stadium May Rise From Ashes

By JOHN MIKA

A modern grandstand stadium in a new and more central location may rise as a Greater Victoria national centennial project as a long-term consequence of the Royal Athletic Park fire.

This prospect arose at City Hall today as officials began a crash-program of studying all feasible courses of action in the fire's aftermath.

City manager Dennis Young said the city's unusually wide insurance terms would permit it to obtain duplication of the burnt-down grandstand or a cash settlement which could be used to erect a better stadium at Royal Athletic Park "or at a completely new location."

$150,000 AVAILABLE

If the fire insurance settlement is added to almost $450,000 that will be available for a joint Greater Victoria 1967 centennial project, the sum could provide an entirely new stadium park for spectator sports.

This idea undoubtedly will be pressed now as a suggestion for the intermunicipal committee currently studying possible joint centennial projects.

Development of the city's Topaz Park, virtually on the south Saanich border, previously had been advanced as a joint project idea to replace the Royal Athletic Park facilities.

But, Mr. Young said, since then the city has embarked on a program of developing Topaz as a multi-purpose recreational park and it is not likely this would be changed.

He said he personally felt the time was ripe to find and develop an entirely new site for a stadium park.

A decision on the matter will have to come from city council. A parks committee meeting will be held next week.

Mr. Young said he has already launched technical studies to prepare data for the committee's consideration.

If the city does decide to relocate stadium facilities, it will still be up to the outside councils to decide whether this would be made into a Greater Victoria centennial project.

Early Sunday Accident Brings Triple Trouble

A 100-miles-an-hour chase from Millstream to Portage Inlet early Sunday resulted in a wrecked car, injury and $200 fine for driver Berton Large, 3005 Glen Lake.

Appearing in Colwood RCMP court today, Large pleaded guilty to dangerous driving and his licence was suspended for a year.

Police said Large was followed by a patrol car at speeds up to 100 miles an hour to Grange Road, where he lost control of his car, bounced over railway tracks, knocked out a pole and caused $700 damage to the auto. Large went to St. Joseph's Hospital with face cuts and was discharged after treatment.

Young Driver Tossed From Car In Ditch Roll

A 17-year-old boy was thrown out of the car he was driving when it ran out of control in a ditch, rolled over and was wrecked at 1:23 a.m. Sunday in the 4900 block Old West Saanich Road.

Police said the driver was knocked unconscious, was picked up by a friend, taken home, checked in hospital and released.

The car had left Old West Road, off West Saanich Road, and plunged 100 feet in the ditch before rolling onto its roof.

It had been on loan from an auto dealer, police said.

Michael Pope, landscape architect and planner with the B.C. parks branch, will speak on the propagation of shrubs at a meeting of the View Royal Garden Club in the community hall Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Shrub Propagation

Mr. Warren said the proposed plan involved bringing the grandstand closer to the soccer field and moving the baseball diamond to a new site on the park with a grandstand of its own.

Up to now the soccer field and the baseball diamond have overlapped and the same stand has served spectators for both sports.

Mr. Warren said it was also proposed to incorporate a quarter-mile track in the park. But he said the whole scheme is dependent on the city acquiring land on Pembroke Street adjacent to the present park.

Mr. Warren said the scheme to re-develop the park has been considered by council but only as a long-range plan and no decision had been made to proceed with it.

He anticipated council will now take up study of the proposals again and may decide to accelerate the plan.

Fire Chief Abbott said fire marshals from Vancouver are investigating the cause of the blaze. While firemen were out fighting the fire in the park they were called to another blaze in a vacant house at Chambers and Balmoral.

Chief Abbott said there is no doubt this one was caused by firecrackers. But little damage was done here.

The Kipling Society will meet Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Miss Olive Watherston, 637 Linden Ave.

CBC WORKERS DEMAND PROOF OF RED TINGE

MONTREAL (CP)—The newsroom staff of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's French network has protested statements by Bona Arsenault, Quebec provincial secretary, that the network is the scene of "left-wing communist infiltration."

The reporters, in a Sunday night telegram to Solicitor General Claude Wagner, asked for an inquiry that would confirm or disprove Mr. Arsenault's allegations. Mr. Arsenault made the statement Friday night at a dinner celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Royal 22nd Regiment.

begin to take hold," the government said in its statement. In many ways, the British action to stem the flood of imports was similar to Canada's action two years ago when the Canadian dollar exchange rate was threatened by international speculation. Canada imposed three categories of extra import duties, ranging from five to 15 per cent. She also borrowed heavily from international sources.

Britain depends heavily on imports for her food and raw materials. Her total import bill this year may be equivalent to some $13,500,000,000.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson frequently stated during the last election campaign that Britain should restrict imports and gradually replace many of the imported products with domestic production.

CURBS TEMPORARY Both Brown and Callaghan emphasized that the imposed curbs are temporary and will be removed just as soon as Britain gets back on its financial feet. Canadian authorities said many exporting countries undoubtedly will be watching the situation, ready to protest should the restrictions remain in force too long.

In addition to direct action to stem the flow of imports and encourage more exports, the government said it must attack the problem of rising prices by establishing machinery to review prices and by urging both labor and management to impose restraints on profits and wages.

National belt-tightening also is anticipated by eliminating government expenditures on what the administration described as "low economic priority" and "prestige projects."

This appeared to refer to various controversial defence projects which may now go down the drain. The government said it already has been in touch with France to reopen negotiations on the joint development of the proposed Concorde commercial supersonic aircraft. It appeared likely this project also may be ditched.

Domestically, while attempting to hold the price line, the administration will seek modernization for British industry, including grants and retraining payments for workers eased out of their jobs by machines. Areas where unemployment is heavy will be given incentives to attract relocated industry.

But in saying this, the administration did not ignore its pledges to improve Britain's social welfare programs, such as the old-age pension. The various proposed measures in this field will be outlined in the Queen's speech at the opening of Parliament next week.

"The country realizes that these will have to be paid for the government will state what is involved and how the cost will be met," the statement said.

All sections of the British community will be asked to share in the costs "on a basis of social justice and equality." Excluded from the additional 15-per-cent import duty are a wide range of goods from dairy products to works of art. Canadian newspaper will not be excluded from the extra charge.

Here is the estimated percentage of British imports to be hit by the 15-per-cent charge on a regional basis: Commonwealth countries 13 per cent; United States 48; European Common Market 58; European Free Trade Area 36; remainder 3.

Funeral Rites Set Tuesday

A funeral service, with full naval honors, will be held at HMCS Naden Chapel, Tuesday at 2 p.m., for Leading Seaman Warner Thomas Shick.

The 30-year-old sailor was killed in a head-on collision early Saturday at the corner of Craigflower and Aral.

He is survived by the widow, Valerie, who received severe facial injuries in the accident and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital; a two-year-old son, Lyle, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Shick of Winnipeg.

Other survivors are two brothers, Larry William, of Montreal; Roger Dennis, of Winnipeg; one sister, Marilyn Gamble, of Winnipeg, and three nephews and two nieces.

The deceased had been residing at the home of Mrs. Shick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rose, 1558 Earle Place, since coming to Victoria from Halifax six months ago.

He was born in Minnedosa, Man., and had been in the navy for 10 years. He was scheduled to leave this week on the recommissioned ship the Ottawa.

Chaplain A. G. Faraday will officiate at the service and burial will follow at Royal Oak Burial Park. McCall Bros. are in charge of funeral arrangements.

Johnson Mobbed in Florida

Big Crowds Cheer Lyndon

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—President Johnson received an enthusiastic and sometimes unruly welcome in Florida Sunday—an area in which there is reported to be considerable support for Barry Goldwater.

He was virtually mobbed in Miami and later in Orlando. There was such confusion and pushing and shoving in the DuPont Plaza Hotel in Miami that a state policeman, without knowing whom he was pushing, gave the president a vigorous shove.

Some reporters and spectators got roughed up by police. Large crowds were on hand at the McCoy air force base civilian airport when Johnson arrived at Orlando Sunday night. Despite rain, he spent about 15 minutes shaking hands at the field.

Another big crowd cheered and waved and pushed as Johnson reached his hotel in Orlando, where he spent the night. After another long session of hand shaking, Johnson climbed atop a police car and made a short speech over a megaphone. He said he had had "a delightful afternoon in Florida," and "every face I have seen is a happy face. I haven't seen a sourpuss all day."

Extremism Is Violence, Says Adlai

NEW YORK (AP)—Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson depicted "extremism in America" Sunday night as "lies, distortions, abuse, threats, violence."

"All these things," he told the American Jewish Congress, "spring from the dark side of the human psyche, where fear and lust for power unleash on human society horrors which can end in the concentration camp and the gas chamber."

He did not mention Senator Barry Goldwater, who said when accepting the Republican presidential nomination last July that extremism in the defence of liberty was no vice.

Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate to United Nations, said Americans' reputation abroad could be "scarred and weakened" if the campaign between Goldwater and President Johnson was conducted "in an empty, unseemly, dishonest fashion."

Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, spoke at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, where he got one of the Stephen S. Wise awards "for advancing human freedom."

GOP AGENCY WITHDRAWS RACE AD

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas campaign headquarters for President Johnson said Friday a Dallas firm handling advertising for Senator Barry Goldwater has recalled a newspaper ad aimed at "Lyndon Johnson's civil rights bill."

The Johnson-Humphrey headquarters furnished reporters with what it said were copies of the ad, headed "LBJ's Civil Rights Bill and You." The ad contained a photo of a happy Negro youth with the word "hired" across the photo and a sullen white youth's photo with the word "fired" across it.

In Dallas, the Rominger agency said the ad had been sent by mistake.

DEMOCRAT LEAD UP IN SCANDAL WAKE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Harris poll reports a net gain for President Johnson in a special survey last week, after the resignation of Walter Jenkins, the removal of Soviet Premier Khrushchev and the Chinese nuclear test explosion.

The poll by Louis Harris, copyright of the Washington Post Company, shows Johnson leading Senator Barry Goldwater by 60 to 34 per cent with six per cent undecided. Before last week's developments, Johnson showed a 53-34 edge with eight per cent undecided.

Jenkins is the top White House aide whose resignation Johnson requested after disclosure that Jenkins was arrested in 1959 and again this month on morals charges.

Popcorn Poll Pops With LBJ Brand

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—President Johnson has popped into a commanding lead in what may well be the most unscientific political prognosis since Aunt Agatha called the shot on Cal Coolidge on the basis of an aching corn.

The presidential popcorn poll shows Johnson ahead of Barry Goldwater in 43 states, with 78 per cent of the popular vote. It has Goldwater ahead in Arizona, Louisiana, Mississippi, Maryland and Utah, with Oregon and Wisconsin even.

Don't laugh. It may sound corny, but the theatre-going munchers and fireside poppers haven't missed yet.

Pollster Jim Blevins, who claims to be the world's leading popcorn vendor, started it all in 1948 but was almost forced to abandon the poll before the second feature began. His idea was to decorate his popcorn bags with the Democratic donkey and Republican elephant and decide who would win the election by counting the number of bags sold.

The popcorn poll showed Harry S. Truman would win, while other—more scientific—polls were predicting a victory for Thomas E. Dewey. To the wonderment of everybody except the popcorn-eating public, Truman won.

Blevins hit it on the nose again in 1952 with Dwight Eisenhower. When Eisenhower ventured for a second term four years later, the popcorn poll not only called his victory, it forecast all 48 states correctly.

Richard Nixon jumped to an early 2 to 3 per cent popular vote lead in 1960, but that quickly shifted to John F. Kennedy after the first of the television debates. Kennedy held the popcorn poll lead right on through his victory. Johnson's margin has been increasing as the count progresses this year.

"We've never attached any scientific significance to it," says popcorn Mogul Blevins. "But it has been uncannily accurate."

'Filth, Fear, Smear' Scored by Parties

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the United States presidential election campaign coming down to the wire, both Democratic and Republican party members Saturday unleashed verbal attacks on each other's campaign tactics.

Democratic national chairman John M. Bailey appealed directly to Senator Barry Goldwater to end what Bailey called the flow of "venom and filth the Republican party has injected" into the election campaign.

Bailey urged the Republican presidential candidate, in a letter to "restore some dignity to the campaign, stop belittling America, and stop running down our great nation."

Meanwhile, Republican national chairman Dean Burch filed a formal complaint charging that the Democrats are waging "a campaign of fear, smear, cover up, news suppression and arm twisting."

Burch announced the filing of the complaint with the Fair Campaign Practices Committee. He contended the Democrats have ducked all debates between the principal candidates.

He said the Democrats have engaged in a "wild, intemperate character assassination" against Goldwater, Republican nominee for president.

'Arm Exiles' Nixon Urges

HOUSTON (UPI)—Former Vice-President Richard Nixon said Friday the United States should recognize an exile government of anti-Castro Cubans and "support the Free Cubans logistically."

Logistics is the military term for the supply of weapons and other war material.

No Surprises Says Barry

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater entered the final week of his drive for the White House today, with "no surprises" in his campaign bag but convinced he has a chance to defeat President Johnson.

The Republican presidential nominee was scheduled to speak today in Salisbury, Md., and Dover, Del., before addressing a traditional Madison Square Garden rally in New York tonight.

"I have no surprises," Goldwater told newsmen Sunday after flying back from West Branch, Iowa, where he attended funeral services for former president Herbert Hoover.

Goldwater said he expected to continue speaking on the issues that have been the core of his campaign to date. He said he did not plan to make a campaign issue of the case of Walter W. Jenkins, White House aide who resigned after his arrest on morals charges was disclosed.

CHANCE OF UPSET

The Arizona Senator, according to authoritative sources, feels that he has a chance to score an upset victory over Johnson on Nov. 3, but not an overwhelming one.

Goldwater's schedule for the final week of the campaign will take him into all four of the states he views as essential to a victory—California, Texas, Illinois and Ohio.

Goldwater's favorite campaign themes have been centralized government, morality and a tougher stand against Communism, and these are the subjects he will stress in the final days.

While he knows of no "bombshell" forthcoming this week that might jolt Johnson's hopes, he believes the Jenkins case will have a greater impact on the voters than many political analysts expect.

Pope Criticizes Casino Bombing

MONTE CASSINO, Italy (AP)—Pope Paul VI consecrated the Roman Catholic Church in the rebuilt monastery of Monte Casino Saturday and bitterly criticized those who bombed the abbey into ruin in the Second World War. The monastery, where St. Benedict founded western monasticism in 529, was shattered by bombers of the Allies on Feb. 15, 1944. The Allies insisted German troops were using it as a strongpoint to block the road to Rome.

IKEDA ... needs care, rest

Throat Tumor Forces Ikeda to Sidelines

TOKYO (AP)—Three leading contenders were in the field today to succeed Premier Hayato Ikeda.

Ikeda, 64, suffering from a throat tumor, said Sunday he would step down as president of the ruling Liberal-Democratic party. Doctors said the tumor could become cancerous and Ikeda needed further hospital care and rest.

Ikeda's successor as party chief automatically will become premier since the party controls the Diet (Parliament).

Chief contenders are State Minister Ichiro Kono; Eisaku Sato, brother of former prime minister Nobusuke Kishi; and former foreign minister Aichihiro Fujiyama.

Kono has been a supporter of Ikeda while Sato and Fujiyama joined forces in an unsuccessful attempt to unseat him last summer.

Kono, an aggressive politician, helped Ikeda win his third two-year term and is reported to be favored by the retiring leader.

Wins Gold Badge

ERRINGTON—Junior warden Rodney Fraser of Errington has been awarded the gold tree degree badge, the highest proficiency award in the junior forest warden organization.

A member of the Lone Patrol system, Rodney studied by correspondence and conducted field trips and activities on his own to complete a three-year conservation program sponsored by the Canadian Forestry Association.

Suslov's Absence Caused by Illness

MOSCOW (AP)—Mikhail A. Suslov, the man credited with toppling Nikita Khrushchev, was reported felled by kidney trouble and tuberculosis Sunday.

Unconfirmed rumors had circulated here that he had gone to Peking in an attempt to patch up the Kremlin's bitter dispute with China.

Sunday night's reports, which gave a different explanation for his noticeable absence from recent public functions, suggested that Suslov, 62, might be forced to drop out of active participation in the Soviet leadership.

Since the dramatic Oct. 14 meeting of the Communist party central committee, at which Suslov presented the indictment of Khrushchev, the top theorist of the party had been regarded as the real source of power.

Informed sources said he declined the key post of party secretary, then given to Brezhnev, because of ill health.

Nearer to the Far East

ALTHOUGH BRITAIN RECOGNIZED the Communist government of China fourteen years ago, next month will see the first visit of a British minister to Peking since that event.

It is significant that the new Labor government in Britain is moving so quickly to establish a closer relationship with Red China. Two intentions have been clearly advertised. Britain will seek to extend its trade with Red China and will also support moves to bring that country into the United Nations. On both counts the Labor government's policy will run counter to that of the United States. But on both counts it will have considerable logic to support it.

Britain urgently needs expanded markets, and Red China can provide an outlet for many United Kingdom products. It will be natural to try to further this objective by forming closer ties with Peking, although the Communist capital has not often relaxed its attitude of wariness and suspicion. Actually, British recognition of the government has so far brought few if any advantages in trade.

The United States is trapped by its sponsorship of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, which perforce determines much of its relations with Red China. There is, of course, a background of hostility engendered by the Korean War, imprisonment of Americans in Chinese custody on dubious charges, and other factors. But this might have been dissipated over the years — as it very definitely has in the case of United States relations with its former enemy, Japan — had it not been for Washington's firm commitments to the Taiwan regime and the continuing struggle against Red China intervention in southeast Asia.

The two great trans-Atlantic partners will thus be in conflict on one of the major problems of the world. The prospect is that the United States will move toward the British position rather than vice versa. In the past few years there have been signs of a lessening of American intolerance of Red China, and the inevitable retirement of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek — now 76 — at some not distant date may help to overcome the chief impediment to better communication, if Peking does not wreck such hopes by supporting further aggressions on the Asian mainland.

There would still remain Washington's need to preserve the Far Eastern line of defence in the Pacific, but with Chiang Kai-shek gone the stigma among southeast Asian peoples of having abandoned an ally would no longer have to be feared.

Red China's acquisition of a nuclear weapon, too, makes it more imperative than ever that a point of peaceful contact be established between that country and the United States. If Mr. Goldwater were to become president, of course, little progress would be likely in this direction, and the disagreement with British policy would become more acute.

Prime Minister Wilson's move will emphasize Canada's position of suspension between the poles of our two greatest friends. Like Britain, and unlike the United States, Canada has entered into trade relations with Peking. Like the United States and unlike Britain, we have withheld diplomatic recognition of the Communist government. There is no great urge for us to reverse the latter policy, particularly when such a move would disturb our southern ally. We owe less to Red China than to the United States and we can afford to let time solve this question. If recognition is a matter of convenience rather than of principle, then let the convenience be ours.

Mr. Curtis Is Chosen

THE VOTING FOR REEVE IN Saturday's Saanich by-election was unexpectedly close and the last-minute correction of an error in the report from one poll gave the victory of Mr. Hugh Curtis a dramatic twist. There will be full sympathy for Mr. Edward Lum, whose personal disappointment was sharpened by the upset. A recount will be held.

A number of factors no doubt influenced the electors. The controversy over appointment of a fire chief for the municipality divided many voters; Mr. Curtis' forward-looking attitude on the proposed Joint Services Board for municipal co-operation in a number of fields also affected two opposed elements among the electorate. There were no old-guard versus new-guard overtones, but Mr. Lum's previous activity in the federal political field may well have drawn him some support.

The people of the municipality should rally now and give Reeve Curtis their full support. He is a young man of experience on the council, a man of ability and of conscientious devotion to his public responsibilities. Mr. Curtis also has demonstrated a positive and enlightened approach to problems of inter-municipal concern and an understanding of the rapidly changing conditions which are affecting the whole area. This is an attitude of mind which is a vital requirement for local civic officials today. Saanich should well served by Mr. Curtis.

Mr. William Campbell is a newcomer to Saanich municipal office. He has made an excellent showing in the count for the council seat vacated by Mr. Curtis and his work on that body will be watched with interest.

Copper and Candor

WHAT MUST SURELY HAVE been one of the strangest joint government-business announcements in Canadian history came last week out of Quebec when Mr. R. V. Porritt, president of Gaspe Copper Mines Limited, met with the press in the office of M. Rene Levesque, provincial minister of resources.

Gaspe Copper, Mr. Porritt said, had decided to spend $12.5 millions during the next three years to expand mill facilities and open up new ore deposits at the company's Murdochville property.

"This is good news for the economy of Quebec," M. Levesque said, with what the press dispatch reported as enthusiasm.

However, the resources minister cautioned, the Quebec government could never rule out entirely the possibility of nationalizing the mining industry "some day." At the present time, he said, there was no point in nationalizing mines when the government was not in a position to keep the markets which they serve nor to provide the capital for their development.

"But I do not see, either, why we should pledge never to nationalize anything in this sector," Mr. Levesque stated.

One cannot help but admire the candor of a man like M. Levesque who can welcome a private capital investment of $12.5 millions in the province's resources and at the same time warn that the owners of the investment must be prepared to have it taken away from them by the government.

This sort of forthright attitude is at least preferable to that of politicians who make solemn promises not to nationalize a private industry and then go ahead and do it when it becomes expedient.

Supporting His Recommendations

MR. JUSTICE EMMETT M. Hall is turning out to be a quite different type of royal commissioner from what Canadians have come to expect of men who have taken up similar jobs.

In addition to chairing the commission on Canadian health services, out of which came the report urging a medicare program, Mr. Justice Hall has apparently seen it as his duty to speak out publicly in favor of the recommendations made by the commission.

He has spoken several times in Ontario urging that the medicare program be started as soon as possible and at the weekend he addressed the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Hospital Association and took direct issue with any proposal to include a "deterrent" fee in medicare legislation.

The idea of a modest fee to deter patients from wasting the time of doctors with imaginary complaints has received support from the medical fraternity and others but Mr. Justice Hall could see no need for it at all.

His point is that such a fee would only serve to deter the poor and would for that reason be discriminatory.

Whether or not one agrees with the commission chairman on this or other points in the health services report, it is refreshing to see him actively campaigning for the measures proposed in it. His action will encourage public interest in an issue of great concern to all Canadians.

CHANGING FACE OF CANADA

A Seesaw of Power Between Governments

THE Fathers of Confederation if they were alive today would scarcely recognize the constitutional structure they created.

They thought they were building a strong central government with a clear field of authority over all national affairs. Some, like Sir John A. Macdonald, wanted a unitary state with a single supreme legislature and only agreed to the creation of provinces with the greatest reluctance; many envisaged a gradual withering away of provincial powers once the public saw the logic of national union.

What the Fathers would find today is a national government whose constitutional powers became so eroded by court decisions during the first 75 years of Confederation that it has frequently had to deal with the provinces as though they were sovereign states. Powers they would have assumed automatically to be those of the central government have gone to it either by default or only after protracted negotiations, usually under pressure of some national or international crisis and often on the sufferance of provincial political leaders.

Long Hard Struggle

Ottawa has managed, as a result of wars and depressions, to acquire something of the authority the Fathers envisaged for it, but the struggle has been a long and hard one.

Today the pendulum is swinging in the other direction. Provincial and regional needs are growing and provincial governments, to an extent which would appal the drafters of the British North America Act, are playing an immensely more important role in Confederation than ever before or than was planned for them. Surprisingly, they are doing this with no significant changes in the constitution itself.

But in the next few months the BNA Act is to be "patriated" (under dubious and unnecessarily restrictive conditions) and Parliament is to be asked to approve arrangements for having the provinces contract out of—that is, take over—a wide range of programs which up to the present have been administered jointly with the federal government.

The constitution, using the term in the broadest sense of both the BNA Act itself and the body of judicial interpretation built up around it, is thus entering a period when there will be strong pressures for change. Canadians will soon have to decide how far they are prepared to go in shifting responsibilities from the national to provincial governments and, more important, how permanent these transfers will or need to be.

Adaptable

The surprising thing about the BNA Act, is that it has been so adaptable to changing circumstances. Under widely varying conditions — through wars and depressions, financial crises and periods of economic boom — it has been interpreted by governments and the courts to meet the needs of the times. When great concentrations of political and financial power have been needed at Ottawa, the federal and provincial governments have managed to rise to the occasion with workable arrangements which did no violence to the rules as they were laid down 100 years ago. When provincial needs have been foremost, ways have always been found to meet them, again without altering the basic document upon which the system has been built.

The secret of the constitution's success, of course, has been the national willingness to regard it as a reasonably flexible document, something to be interpreted and re-interpreted in the light of changing circumstances. Canadians have always known that the nation's future rested on their capacity to tolerate profound regional, racial and social differences within the country and to adapt their institutions to the needs of the times. The Fathers understood this when they recognized the distinctive interests of Upper and Lower Canada and the Maritime colonies, and delegated certain broad fields of local responsibility to their legislatures.

Latter parliaments understood it when the separate interests of the western territories and a whole new maritime community on the Pacific coast were added.

None of the Fathers of Confederation, however, could have contemplated the changes which have taken place in the century that has passed since they gathered at Charlottetown and Quebec. No document which they drafted could possibly have foreseen or provided for such 20th century refinements as the income tax, the old age pension or even the paved highway, yet these and many other changes have been made with relatively few amendments to the BNA Act.

The lesson in this record is that the original structure has stood up well and has been sufficiently flexible both to support a strong central government and to accommodate itself to radical change. It has been adaptable enough, as Mr. Mitchell Sharp observed in a recent speech, to enable the nation "to act as one where common action has been essential and to minimize internal conflict by permitting local variation, both of which contribute to national unity."

Must Be Flexible

Whatever changes, if any, are made in the next few months must meet these criteria. They must do nothing which in any way weakens the federal government's power to act in its essential fields of authority (such as defence, trade, fiscal policy, etc.) and they must leave the constitution flexible enough to adapt itself to the unforeseen problems of the future as it has to the problems of the past.

Subsequent articles will demonstrate that the pressing needs of the provinces can be met within the present framework and that Quebec's rightful claim to a larger place in Confederation can be realized without introducing structural changes the country may regret in future years.

FROM WASHINGTON

An Affectionate Memory of Herbert Hoover

IT IS HARD to recapture for those who did not know Herbert Hoover during the first world war the brilliance of his reputation and the personal fascination of the man. The nation had entered the war reluctantly and resentfully. The American people were predominantly isolationist, believing that our ramparts were the two oceans, and they were pacifists and they hated war.

Hoover, though he was a Quaker and at heart a conscientious objector to war, had in fact intervened spectacularly long before Woodrow Wilson felt himself forced to ask Congress for a declaration of war.

Hoover had intervened by the gallant enterprise of saving the Belgian people during the German occupation. This struck a deep response in a nation which realized that neutrality was inglorious and probably impossible, but yet recoiled at the butchery.

When this country entered the war, Hoover was already a legendary figure. He was also an entrancing talker. Many felt, as I did, that they had never met a more interesting man, anyone who knew so much of the world and could expound so clearly what to almost all Americans in 1917 were the inscrutable mysteries of European politics.

Wilsonian Heir

When the war ended in 1918 and the Presidential election of 1920 began to take shape, Hoover was the first choice of nearly all the Wilsonian idealists, of the progressives and liberals in both parties. Destiny had marked him, I have always thought, to be the natural heir of Woodrow Wilson, and in fact he was launched into national politics by men who belonged to Wilson's following.

He chose, however, to declare himself a Republican, and this decision, which brought him to the Presidency eight years later, opened up a breach with the progressives and liberals. It was deepened and envenomed by the 1932 campaign, and it was not until much later in his life that the breach was healed, thanks to the initiative of President Harry Truman.

At a time like this it would be foolish to attempt to anticipate the verdict of history. But most of us who knew Hoover during his public career may, perhaps, allow ourselves a few reflections. I would venture to say that for the disaster which engulfed him in the White House Hoover was in no way responsible.

In the 1920's when the great depression was brewing, there was no one, no politician or financier, who had any clear idea as to how the world should be reconstructed after a devastating war. It was then normal, though almost no one remembered it, that in modern history a great war is followed by a great crash.

We avoided such a crash after the Second World War because we had so well learned the lessons of the First World War. So far as I know, Hoover himself never accepted the tenets of the modern school of monetary and fiscal management which are applied in all advanced countries today.

But it is an interesting historical fact that as President he adopted pragmatically virtually all the main principles of the early years of Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal. The reader will find the basic text for this assertion in Hoover's speech accepting the Republican nomination on Aug. 11, 1932.

Writing three years later in the light of the unfolding New Deal program, I ventured to say that Hoover's "historic position as a radical innovator has been greatly underestimated and . . . Mr. Roosevelt's pioneering has been greatly exaggerated. It was Mr. Hoover who abandoned the principles of laissez-faire in relation to the business cycle, established the conviction that prosperity and depression can be publicly controlled by political action and drove out of the public

Police Comparison

Your correspondent "Anonymous" complains of the lack of courtesy in Vancouver police and prefers Oak Bay where he got only a polite warning for exceeding the limit.

There is nothing new in that, but it does raise a point that we rightly praise our police, fire and municipal officials for their polite handling of our problems.

In select island communities, vigilance in the force breeds efficiency with kindness. If the mainland officials seem less civilized it is because they are dealing with a mixed lot in millions, many of whom have become "Americanized." All that Vancouver lacks to become as infamous as Chicago is an Al Capone.

It all depends upon leadership at the top; from chiefs who have their finger on the public pulse; who can command respect for law and order which no magistrate can cover or correct with money fines or threats. All this is reflected in the common touch between the ranks and the people, where politeness costs nothing and civic pride runs right through to the garbage men.

The mainland incident, of which your writer complains, draws a comparison; but comparisons are odious when it comes to cops, and he was just that; a rude cop and in some places they come in dozens.

CLARENCE S. GOODE.

Who Needs the Bank?

British Columbia is so well served by many banks of repute it makes one wonder why Mr. W. A. C. Bennett needs—or thinks he needs—another bank, and that there would not be enough accommodation for the "people's" business.

Of course the bank is for the "people's" affairs—or is it? A government is a passing regime, and one wonders if such a structure would not prove a white elephant to a new—or fresh—element of power the people could truly choose to elect.

'Let Us Speak Out'

Congratulations to Norman Cribbens who had the intestinal fortitude to speak bluntly against a debasing film, "Lady in a Cage." He sets an example to many of us who deplore such things privately, but do nothing about it.

Will Durant was stirred to action recently and wrote: "Public opinion has been guilty of criminal and cowardly silence in the face of crime, moral disorder and deteriorating taste. Let us speak out; let public opinion resume its function as an indispensable aid in transmitting standards and transforming the savage into a citizen."

Who are the savages today?

Congratulations

The Times is to be congratulated on having a man like Mr. Cribbens who will speak out against such a presentation as the play at the Capitol—Lady in a Cage. As a visitor in the city I feel that a play of that kind gives the wrong impression of the character of the people of Victoria.

Why Show Such Films?

May I express my gratitude to Mr. Norman Cribbens through your columns for his angry criticism of the film "Lady in a Cage" on the screen recently at the Capitol Theatre?

Why show films that can only act as a stimulus to a potential Kanaster in our midst and debase everyone else in the doing?

True to Nature

In the field of war and peace, however, Herbert Hoover remained true to his original nature, that of the bold and brilliant philanthropist who binds up wounds and avoids inflicting them. Hoover fed the defeated Germans, and though he hated communism he fed the Bolsheviks. Yet in spite of all of it he never believed in America as a global power with military and political commitments in every continent. He was an isolationist and, insofar as his beliefs could be reconciled with his duties as President and Commander in Chief, he was a conscientious objector.

I remember him affectionately. Thus, in 1923 when he was nominated for President, I sent him congratulations and good wishes. He replied to me at my office in the New York World, which was supporting Gov. Al Smith, that "I do not expect you to love me publicly until after November."

FAULTY WIRING BLAMED

Mother Leads 3 From House Fire

DUNCAN—A Duncan mother led her three young sons to safety when fire raged through their home Saturday.

Mrs. Marion Hankins woke to the smell of smoke in her Gibbins Road home.

She rushed to her sons' bedroom, roused them, and led them through dense smoke to safety.

Still in night clothes, they dashed to a neighbor's house to give the alarm.

When firemen arrived the house was beyond saving. It took an hour to bring the flames under control.

600 Herring Fishermen Go on Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than 600 B.C. herring fishermen went on strike Saturday following a 94.6 per cent vote in favor of the action by United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union.

The union had sought $14.88 a ton and a year-round health plan on a 50-50 cost-sharing basis.

The B.C. Fisheries Association offered $14 a ton, an increase from the previous $12.40, and a health plan covering the season from Oct. 16 to March 10 and two months after it ends.

Almost 500 members attended the general meeting; union secretary Homer Stevens said. The fishermen had been fishing up until Thursday.

Mr. Stevens declined to speculate on the length of the strike. "It will last until the companies come to terms," he said.

He said no further meetings between the companies and the union are scheduled.

V.I. BRIEFS

Probe Called Wednesday In Boy's Death

COBBLE HILL—An inquiry into the death of nine-year-old Gregory William Shearing, who was found dead in a field on his parents' farm Thursday night, will be held Wednesday.

The body of the boy was found inside a heavy cement ring by police after a three-hour search. The boy had been playing in the ring earlier in the day.

Police say that foul play is not suspected.

Duncan coroner Ken McAdam will conduct the inquiry.

DUNCAN—President Weldon Jubenville of Duncan-Nanaimo IWA local will be opposed by Ernest Boulet of Lake Cowichan at the local's annual elections next month.

Nominations were made at a meeting Saturday in the IWA hall.

DUNCAN—David Batty, 21, formerly of Duncan, and two interior riders, won the aggregate trophy for out-of-state competitors at a quarter horse competition held in the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

Mr. Batty also placed second in the junior cutting event.

He is employed at the Douglas Lake Cattle Co. in the B.C. interior.

DUNCAN—The Jaycees will sponsor the government mobile testing unit when it comes here Dec. 14-18.

The unit will be stationed in the city's shopping plaza each day, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The club will also provide a cable hook-up for a television set given to the children's ward of King's Daughters' Hospital by the lumbermen's Hoo Hoo Club.

BRENTWOOD—Two businesses have changed hands at Brentwood in the past week.

The Brentwood Bay Store has been sold by Harold Andrew, a long-time resident of the district, to Gordon Wright, who for several years operated a service station at Courtenay.

The Brentwood laundromat has been sold to Gordon Battier who has also started a taxi service. The business was formerly owned by Philip F. Benn, Brentwood postmaster.

EXPECTED AT NEXT SESSION

Instant Laws for Instant Towns

NANAIMO—New legislation is being formulated to cover B.C.'s "instant towns."

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell told a community planning seminar here Saturday the legislation "very probably" will be introduced at the legislative session opening in January.

The laws will establish an administrative method for the "unique communities" rising in isolated areas, he said.

The minister said the communities are being developed in the wake of tremendous growth of mining and forest industries on northern Vancouver Island, Queen Charlotte Islands and the northern half of the province.

The minister said the department of municipal affairs is anxious to avoid the type of company town that follows this kind of industrial growth. He said it is not desirable to wait for time-consuming growth to take place.

Mr. Campbell said legislation dealing with these "instant towns" would make possible provision of town planning for the new communities.

He said legislation dealing with joint services for organized and unorganized communities also would probably be introduced.

The minister said administrative devices set up years ago "are not the ones upon which we can base the next ten years of growth in this province."

"The administrative devices of local government would shatter with a doubling of population," he said, and offered amalgamation, extension of boundaries and provision of joint services as the answers to the problem.

Aged Group Wants Provincial Medicare

VANCOUVER (CP)—A province-wide senior citizens organization wants the British Columbia government to start a medical insurance scheme.

In a brief prepared for presentation to the cabinet the Federated Legislative Council of the Elder Citizens Association of B.C. said the doctor-sponsored Medical Services Incorporated health insurance fees are out of reason for persons on fixed incomes.

The brief said the "situation in connection with MSI has shown the impossibility of a private plan to serve the needs of elderly people."

He was referring to the recent increase in MSI fees to cover the cost of MSI's comprehensive plan. MSI said it lost money because of the high cost of treating the elderly.

The brief said a provincial medicare plan could be integrated into a future national plan. The age group of 60 and over should be the first group brought into any plan, national or provincial, "because of the great hardships under which an enormous majority of this group are now living."

The government was also urged to include chronic care under the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

TO THE POLLS

More than 75,000,000 U.S. citizens are eligible to vote in the Nov. 3 presidential elections.

MARKET SUMMARIES

London Stocks Moving Ahead

The stock market continued to decline today at Toronto with most industrial losses in a small range.

Stocks continued fractionally lower also at Montreal. But at London, the announcement of the government's economic policy brought relief and prices moved ahead.

1% made Friday in anticipation of the news. Ford eased and Chrysler lost a fraction. Down about a point were Corvett, Lukens Steel and Texas Gulf Sulphur.

Among Canadian issues, Hudson Bay Mining rose 1/2 and McIntyre Porcupine 1/4. International Nickel dropped 1/4 and Canadian Pacific 1/4.

AT VANCOUVER trading was moderate. Merit Oil was down at 52 and London Pride Silver at 29. New Imperial climbed to $1.66 and Dundee to .49. Ulica was down at $2.05 while Earlecrest was up at .61.

Canadian Pacific Appointment

IAN D. SINCLAIR, Q.C., president of Canadian Pacific, will assume responsibility for the railway's operating and traffic departments, effective Nov. 1, it has been announced. The amalgamation of the two fields is part of an extensive realignment of the senior management of the company. As a result of the move, Mr. Sinclair will add rail operations to his previous jurisdiction over traffic matters, but will relinquish his direct responsibility for the natural resource and investment activities of the company and for certain of the service departments. As the senior vice-president of the company, he will remain a member of the executive committee, however, his general involvement in these areas will continue.

AT NEW YORK with partial settlement of the General Motors strike during the weekend, GM common erased its rise of

AT LONDON the government's economic policy statement which had been the subject of much guessing before the weekend, was received with a good deal of relief in London stock market circles today. After the first half-hour prices moved ahead.

More Radioactivity But No Hazard Yet

OTTAWA (CP)—The Chinese nuclear explosion Oct. 16 has resulted in a slight rise in levels of radioactivity at a number of points in Western Canada, it was announced here today.

Dr. Peter Bird, chief of the federal health department's radiation-protection division, said air samples from several stations from Fort William, Ont., west to Calgary and Edmonton show that small quantities of fresh radioactive debris have been added to the atmosphere.

However, he stressed that tests to date on the air samples show that the levels pose no danger to human beings. There was no evidence, he said, that the new radioactivity from the Chinese explosion will constitute a health hazard.

One of Canada's major industrial corporations has two very attractive openings in its British Columbia operations. The positions offer challenging work and the facility to gain broad experience as members of a highly competent management team. Opportunities for advancement in the financial, operating and managerial fields are excellent. The prime requirements are above-average ability and the potential to assume progressively greater responsibilities.

Accounting Systems Analyst

The principal function of this position will be to conduct special studies in administrative, management information, accounting and data processing systems. Candidates should possess qualifications such as B. Commerce, C.A. or the equivalent. Experience in industry is desirable but not essential.

Technical Systems Analyst

The successful candidate will undertake the development, design and implementation of operating systems, including production scheduling, maintenance planning, plant controls and statistical analysis. He will be a university graduate with a strong interest in industrial systems. Experience in applied mathematics, industrial engineering or operations research is desirable, but recent graduates without such experience will be considered. Remuneration will be fully commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Replies, which will be treated in professional confidence, should indicate educational, business and personal history, and present and desired salary. Envelopes should identify the position concerned, and be addressed to:

General Motors Still Hobbled

DETROIT (AP)—Despite ending of a 31-day national walkout against General Motors Corp., the giant of the auto-making industry was hobbled today by local-level strikes that threaten to snuff out new operations.

The question of when the company that normally turns out more than half the new automobiles in the U.S. might get any assembly lines going again was unanswered. But one company source guessed: "Within a couple of days, maybe."

The United Auto Workers Union announced Sunday night that 95 of 97 local unions reporting had given "overwhelming ratification" to a new three-year national contract.

The UAW announced that the national strike was "terminated," but at the same time, said its 28 local units which had not reached at-the-plant working agreements which supplement the national contract would stay out.

At the time 102 of the UAW's 130 units in GM's empire had reached local-level settlement.

SOME CREWS RETURN

With announcement of the national strike's ending, GM called back maintenance and make-ready crews in the Pontiac division at Pontiac, Mich., the Buick division at Flint, Mich., and the Buick-Oldsmobile-Pontiac plant in Kansas City, Kan.

Louis G. Seaton, GM's vice-president for personnel and its chief negotiator, said there would be other call-backs, but he was unable to pinpoint them immediately.

More Wheat Sales Seen

OTTAWA (UPI)—Canadian wheat farmers can look forward to another sound crop year in 1964-65, with total sales at least equalling, if not surpassing, this year's production.

Orders, especially from eastern Europe are starting to pile up, following another poor harvest not only in the Soviet satellites, but also in Russia. At the same time, Canada's traditional markets are holding firm.

The Soviet Union is expected to conclude negotiations shortly to buy 25-30 million bushels of Canadian wheat, helping to bolster its poor harvest. East European countries, who have wheat agreements outstanding, were understood to have been placing orders far in excess of minimum requirements of the existing contracts.

The 1964-65 crop year will not approach the 1963-64 year as far as volume of sales are concerned, but the production-sales ratio should be comparable if not improved from the Canadian standpoint.

2 Million Homes Required

MIAMI (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro said Sunday night that Cuba's "urgent" housing shortage cannot be resolved by his regime before 1990 at the earliest.

In a 90-minute speech to a construction congress in Havana, which was monitored here, the Cuban leader said if a least two million living units—in houses and apartments—can be built during the next 24 years, the island's presently estimated needs will be met. He quoted from a report submitted by the construction industry. It said that at present "there is a shortage of 650,000 living units for 3.5 million persons."

Soviet Image Abroad Hurt

Ouster Renders Uncertain Future Course of Russians

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has been advised by government experts on Russian affairs that the ouster of Premier Khrushchev has damaged the prestige of Soviet leadership at home and abroad and rendered uncertain the future course of Soviet policy toward the West.

These are among the principal conclusions reached in a new study of the shakeup in the Kremlin earlier this month. Other conclusions reported to the president, according to informed officials:

1. The best guess about the future prospects for Khrushchev's successor is that a power struggle probably cannot be avoided. The experts say Communist party boss Leonid Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin appear to represent at the moment the two bureaucratic of the party and the government, and these together with the competitive interest of the military and industrial establishment set the stage for a power struggle.

Ugly Side Revealed

3. The sudden ouster of Khrushchev has displayed to the world what experts here term the uglier side of Kremlin politics and this has been a principal contribution to the loss of Soviet prestige. It renders virtually all important aspects of Soviet policy uncertain.

4. While Brezhnev and Kosygin have reaffirmed Khrushchev's policy of coexistence, the new men and their jockeying for power could move Soviet policy in the future in almost any direction subject only to the limits of Russia's power position.

5. The Communist-ruled countries of Eastern Europe have been given another push toward the West by the shakeup.

3 Problems Caused Shake-Up

U.S. experts now feel that probably three major problems caused the Communist party leadership in Russia to throw Khrushchev out. These causes arise out of Khrushchev's way of running the government in recent years, questions of allocations of resources — among military weapons, industry and consumer goods — and the quarrel with Red China.

Khrushchev has already been attacked in official Soviet publications for developing a new "cult of personality," which simply means that he was getting to be dictatorial about running the government and doing things his own way without adequately consulting with the 10 or so other men in the theoretically collective leadership.

Nevertheless, in removing

Campaign Set On Medicare

A country-wide pro-medicare campaign is planned by the Canadian Labour Congress next February.

Object of the campaign, which coincides with the CLC's citizenship month, is to expedite implementation of recommendations in the Hall royal commission report on health services.

Its chief recommendation was a national, pre-paid, compulsory medical health insurance scheme.

The campaign will be discussed by all provincial federations of labor next month. William Gaud, CLC representative here.

Accent on Variety in New Navy Training

A new manpower system for Canada's navy will go into effect Dec. 1.

Called the Cyclic System, the new personnel plan was conceived by a team under Rear-Admiral W. M. Landis following hearings across the country this year.

Every officer and man was invited to appear before the committee or make recommendations in writing which would improve naval efficiency.

In all, there was 215 submissions in writing and 102 officers and men appeared before the review board.

16-MONTH CYCLES

The Cyclic System consists of 16-month cycles, each divided into four-month phases.

The phases are for organization, training, operating at full efficiency and one for tapering off.

The system is designed to provide naval personnel a more varied schedule of activity and training during their enlistment period, the navy says.

Chess Competition

Victoria City Chess Club has announced competition will begin Tuesday evening in the following divisions: Victoria and district championship; club tournament, and "B" section.

Late entries in the above groups can be arranged by telephoning Alf Sheard at 383-2141 or 384-2803.

Under the present system, now five years old, a high turnover of men in ships lessened the navy's ability to develop trade skills.

Acting on a suggestion from the men, the committee upped the enlistment period from three to five years to overcome this situation.

STAY WITH SHIP

Now, a man once trained, will be able to stay with his ship longer to continue his work and advancement in a trade group.

Phase I of the Cyclic System consists of training and maintenance of a ship and men can be moved in and out of the vessel during this period.

Phase II puts the training into practical use on work-ups, squadron exercises and probably a cruise.

The ship's company remains the same during this period to develop teamwork.

The Fleet Phase or Phase III has the ship's company at its highest operational efficiency, ready for large-scale exercises and emergencies, according to the navy.

Phase IV, or Personnel Assistance Phase, gradually lessens operational ability of the ship. This four-month stretch will be used for cadet training, school relations cruises and participation in local festivities.

A big advantage of the system is an operational commander, can augment ships in Phase III with ships in Phases II and IV at short notice if an emergency arises.

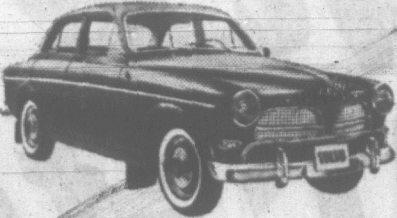

The individual also benefits with a longer period for trade advancement, having four months ashore at the end of each year's service which is spent with the same crew.

1,300,000 Saved in U.S. From Cancer

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 1,300,000 Americans alive today have been cured of cancer and 183,000 more will be saved in 1965, the American Cancer Society reported Sunday.

In a booklet, 1965 Cancer Facts and Figures, the society said that an additional 700,000 cancer patients who have been diagnosed and treated for the disease in the last five years will live to be classified as cured. These, however, will not be formally counted until they have completed the accepted cured time of five years, the society said.

The booklet said that 290,000 persons have died of cancer so far this year and about 295,000 more are expected to die in 1965.

The society report stated that deaths resulting from lung cancer have increased. Lung cancer now is considered the leading cause of death from cancer.

'Methods Changed, Objective Remains'

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

The flag of the United Nations fluttered in a stiff breeze over Victoria's Inner Harbor Saturday afternoon as Lieutenant-

Governor George Pearkes declared:

"War is less likely today than in any previous generation, and that is largely due to the United Nations organization and to the United Nations associations which support it."

It was United Nations Day in Victoria and across the world.

Mr. Pearkes spoke to a gathering of 200 men and women on the corner of Government and Belleville.

19th BIRTHDAY

"This is the 19th anniversary of the founding of the United Nations Organization when representatives of many nations met in San Francisco and pledged they would do all in their power to maintain world peace and security."

"This objective remains even though the methods of working for it may have changed, and through it all, membership in the organization has increased."

CADET GUARD

At the flag-raising ceremony, Mr. Pearkes inspected a guard of honor formed by the Canadian Scottish Cadets and their pipe band.

He then attended a reception given by the Victoria branch of the United Nations Association in the Empress Hotel and was received by Dr. John Chapman, president, and Dr. Hartley Sargent, past president.

The keynote address was given by Richard J. Bower who said the United Nations, now entering its 20th year, had every right to look to its past with satisfaction and to its future with confidence.

'INDISPENSABLE'

"Many of the individual member nations have displayed weaknesses," the Daily Colonist publisher said, "and some have deviated from the declared purpose of the UN."

"But, by and large, the organization has overcome these problems and has manifested itself as indispensable to all mankind."

Far Away Places Deadline Near for Christmas Mail

Christmas parcels are already arriving at the post office and not long before the last mailing date for far away places.

The Christmas cards have yet to arrive, but when they do they should bear an extra one-cent postage, this year. Unsealed cards now cost three cents, instead of two.

The last mailing date for parcels to the Philippines was Sunday and surface-mail letters must be posted by midnight Tuesday.

Surface-mail letters, and parcels to Australia, New Zealand and the Fiji Islands must be posted by Wednesday, as well as parcels to Central America, South America and the West Indies.

POSTING DATES

Other surface-mail posting dates are:

Parcels to Europe, Nov. 2; letters and parcels to Japan and Hong Kong, Nov. 10; letters to Europe, Nov. 18; letters to Central America, South America and the West Indies, Nov. 19; parcels to Great Britain, Nov. 24; letters to Great Britain, Nov. 30.

TRANSIT MEN ACCEPT 8.6% OVER 2 YEARS

Transit workers for B.C. Hydro have voted to accept an 8.6 per cent wage increase and other benefits in a two-year contract.

The increase, which affects about 260 members of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees here, is retroactive to Sept. 1.

Tradesmen get an additional five cents an hour on the first step. Also in the agreement is a sick pay plan and an improved pension plan.

Extra Hour Saturdays At Woolco

An extra hour's shopping will be available at the Woolco store on Saturdays.

The store, at the Town and Country Shopping Centre, opens at 9 a.m. Wednesday and will be open until 10 p.m. The same hours will be in effect the rest of the week.

In following weeks, hours will be 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. except Saturday when the store opens an hour earlier.

Official To Visit Jr. Wardens

A three-week tour of Vancouver Island starts this week for D. A. Watson, Canadian Forestry Association field officer in B.C.

The association is stepping up its field program to provide more conservation education for Island youths.

He will visit Sayward, Campbell River, Courtenay, Parksville, the Albernis, Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Chemainus, Duncan, Gabriola Island and Victoria.

Junior forest wardens, aged 10 to 15, learn about conservation of woods, waters, soil and wildlife at weekly club meetings and on field trips.

Air-mail deadlines:

Parcels to the Philippines,

Dec. 5; parcels to Australia and the Fiji Islands, Dec. 6; parcels to Europe, Dec. 8; parcels to Japan, Dec. 9; parcels to Central America, South America and the West Indies and letters to Europe, Dec. 10; parcels to New Zealand and Hong Kong and letters to the Philippines, Dec. 11; parcels to Britain and letters to Australia, Central America, South America and the West Indies, Dec. 12; letters to New Zealand, Dec. 13; letters to Britain and the Fiji Islands, Dec. 14; and letters to Japan and Hong Kong, Dec. 15.

The dates for surface mail to Britain apply to all armed forces overseas, while the air mail dates to Britain apply to servicemen in Britain, and the airmail dates for Europe apply to all other military personnel overseas.

Post officials said surface parcel post to Europe, prepaid for dispatch by the direct route, should be mailed two weeks in advance of the above dates.

McNeill's Big Nose Left Vic Leafs Bloodied

Canucks' Billy Sported the Claret But It Was Pilous-men Who Saw Red

Vancouver 3, Victoria 2

By DOUG PEDEN

Billy McNeill stuck his nose in where it didn't belong and got cracked over his head for the trouble. He also came out of the incident smelling of roses and to Vancouver Canucks the aroma was like a sniff of $60-an-ounce stuff straight from Paris.

Canucks cashed in on the surprising result of Billy's brashness before 2,486 fans Saturday at Memorial Arena to salvage a 3-2 Western Hockey League over Victoria Maple Leafs.

McNeill staged his act with about six minutes remaining in the third period while the Leafs, battling to break a 2-2 deadlock, were pressing in the Vancouver end.

Victoria's John Sleaver and bashing Bill Burega of Vancouver jostled each other in a struggle for the puck and then decided to forget about the puck and just jostle each other.

While they were scuffling, McNeill attempted to horn in on what had been strictly a private party and was accidentally clipped over an eye by Sleaver's stick.

Bill Shvets' Fourth Sin Didn't Help

Having smeared blood from the cut over an expanded area, McNeill drew referee Bruce Hood's attention to the gore while Hood was ushering the original batters to the penalty box. Hood, who had apparently planned to hand out a pair of minor penalties, gave Burega two minutes and handed Sleaver a five-minute sentence for drawing blood, although many refs would have merely doled out an extra penalty to McNeill for entering into an altercation.

Making things worse for the Leafs just over a minute later was Bill Shvets' fourth penalty of the evening which, after Burega's return to action, left Victoria two men short for 47 seconds.

Shvets had just stepped out of the box and was striving to get into the play when McNeill dropped the cruncher, firing the winning goal at 17:20.

Leafs gave it a great try the rest of the way. Sleaver was back for most of the final minute and goalie Al Miller was lifted for an extra attacker. But the surge produced only agonizingly close misses and the last good chance went glimmering when winger Ed Mazur couldn't quite get his stick to the puck as it slid by his skates in a goalmouth scramble.

McNeill was trouble for Victoria all night. He scored Vancouver's second goal at 7:53 of the first period to make it 2-0 after veteran Phil Maloney had first-timed a blazing slap shot past Miller.

Leafs, who have had all their four Memorial Arena games decided by one-goal margins, continued their habit of making things exciting for the home folks. They recovered from a 10-minute session of sorry hockey that cost them two goals to hold an edge in play over the remainder of the route.

They evened the count in a bristling second period and several times in the third did everything but hammer the puck behind netminder Gilles Bisvert. Even their goals were collected in spectacular fashion.

Gordie Redahl got the first one, stealing the puck and moving in for his shot with a fine shift and good turn of speed. Milan Marcetta evened the count by completing a great play with Sandy Hucul.

Once again the Leafs proved they have an abundance of spirit and some excellent talent. But with forward Larry Keenan on the injury list, they dressed only 14 men to Vancouver's 18 and coach Rudy Pilous couldn't quite make his talent stretch far enough.

Leafs today was trying to obtain promised player help from Toronto and preparing the Leafs for their game against Los Angeles Blades here Tuesday.

Leafs played their finest game of the season to edge the Blades last Tuesday and if Pilous can get them to repeat the feat on Tuesday they could step into a fourth-place tie with Canucks.

Totems in Front Despite Shutout

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Seattle Totems took a two-point lead in Western Hockey League standings during the weekend.

Entering Saturday's play, Seattle and Los Angeles Blades were tied for first place with eight points. The other teams were tied with four points each.

Seattle now is in first place with 10 points after defeating Los Angeles 4-2 in Seattle Saturday. The Totems were shut out 2-0 by Portland Buckaroos Sunday.

It was the second victory in two days for Portland, who came from behind to defeat San Francisco Seals 5-3 Saturday.

Portland's pair of victories left Buckaroos tied for second place with Los Angeles.

The Buckaroos, playing before 6,388 hometown fans, gave goalie Don Head his first shutout of the young season Sunday. Garry Goyer and Art Jones each scored in the first period.

Burly Fiji Star Defies Efforts of Tacklers

Stubborn Canucks Keep Fijians Late for Lunch

By RON SUDLOW

"We will eat you." That's a loose translation of the war-like chant the touring Fijian rugby team shouted to a Canadian side prior to an exhibition match played before 1,500 fans Saturday at Macdonald Park.

But it appeared the visitors had nibbled off a little more than they could digest against the stubborn Canadians until a 22-minute scoring surge in the second half yielded enough points for a 13-3 victory over the tenacious Canucks.

All the scoring was in the second half and was opened by the Fijians when wing Aporosa Robe ran over and around four defenders for a try at 13 minutes.

The score climaxed a brilliant display of ball-handling by both three-quarter lines and wild punt exchanges.

RAMBLED 50 YARDS

Fullback Don Burgess of Victoria, captain of the Canadian squad, boomed a punt from his five-yard line which was fielded by fullback Petero Rasiasateki who rambled 50 yards before handing off to Robe.

Namesie Ratuvailawa's sharply-angled convert was good and the Fijians led 5-0.

The Canadians got on the scoreboard 10 minutes later when Tom Browne of Victoria combined with Tim Cummings of Vancouver and Garry Roll of UBC for an unconverted try.

ADDED TO LEAD

Fiji added to the lead nine minutes later when No. 8 forward Joeli Naucabaluva drove over from five yards out, picking the ball out of a goal-line scramble.

Ratuvailawa again converted. Naucabaluva counted again. Naucabaluva counted again.

He dribbled the ball 25 yards down the sideline from a line-out, then picked it up to go over for the final points.

The Canadians deserved a better fate than their lone try as they controlled play from scrums and line-outs only to lose the ball as they neared their opponents' goal-line.

This was the first time the Canadian XV, which included two Albertans and two players from Quebec, had played together as a unit.

Both three-quarter lines seemed to have trouble handling the ball although weather and field-conditions were near-perfect.

POWERFUL RUNNING

Play during the first half saw-sawed between the 25-yard lines.

Early Outburst Does the Trick

Shawnigan Lake's scoring spurge in the first half stood them in good stead Saturday as they edged University School 6-5 in Independent Boys School rugby action.

Mark Appleton's try early in the game was followed minutes later by Dennis McGuire's penalty kick to give the Lakers an early 6-0 lead.

University's points came in the second half on a try by Ken Schofield and Pat Stevenson's conversion.

BOTTLES FLY, FISTS FLAIL, RANGERS WIN

GLASGOW (Reuters)—Flailing fists, flying bottles and general uproar accompanied Saturday's Scottish football league cup final here between Glasgow Rangers and Glasgow Celtic.

Police, who had appealed to the 91,000 spectators to avoid a repetition of the unruly scenes at many previous Ranger-Celtic encounters, made 30 arrests and ambulance crews took 20 casualties to hospital.

Rangers beat Celtic 2-1.

WRITERS MAD, MAD, MAD

Red Press Adds Olympic Chapter

The 1964 Tokyo Olympics are history, but the Soviet press added another chapter to the story Sunday. Red writers are mad, mad, mad at the showing their athletes made at the Games.

"What do our leaders of the Central Sports Council say now?" one paper asked. "Where are the 40-50 gold medals . . . they promised?"

The Russians picked up 30 gold medals and earned 695.5 points to come first in the point totals. But they did poorly in sports in which Russians have usually dominated.

The main target of the sports writers was Gavril Jkorobkov, the track and field coach, whose charges were handily beaten by American athletes for the second time this year.

"Instead of 11 gold medals (in track and field) we won in Rome, there were only five in Tokyo," the newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda wrote.

The newspaper Trud asked: "How many years are we going to trail in the last places in the sprints?"

The U.S. swept all four sprints and the two distance races as well as the men's 400 metres.

CANADIANS WELCOMED

In sharp contrast to the Red press reaction was the welcome home treatment given Canada's team.

Even though the clock at Vancouver airport read 5:15 a.m., several hundred well-wishers, huggers and a small orchestra were on hand Sunday when the Canadian team stepped to the tarmac.

Liberal MP Jack Davis and Mayor Bill Rathie were among those greeting the team that won four medals—one gold, two silver and one bronze.

The Canadians were generous in their praise for Japan's handling of the games. But Canada's team badges were less than opulent in the memory of Toronto sprinter Abigail Hoffman.

"Those tiny old things they gave us cost about a nickel a dozen," said Miss Hoffman, who competed in the 400 and 800 metres.

Surtees Crowned

MEXICO CITY (Reuters)—Dan Gurney of California won the Mexican Grand Prix here Sunday, with John Surtees of Britain second and Lorenzo Bandini of Italy third.

The result of the 202-mile race gave Surtees the world's drivers' championship.

Scotland's Jim Clark, who had led throughout the race, had to quit on the last lap when his Lotus sprang an oil leak.

Surtees, with his second place, finished with 49 points to Graham Hill's 39 in the contest for the title.

Birds Batter Oregon Crew

VANCOUVER (CP)—University of British Columbia Thunderbirds put together a solid pass defence and a strong running attack to defeat Southern Oregon College 26-20 in an exhibition football game here Saturday.

The Thunderbirds were generous in their praise for Japan's handling of the games. But Canada's team badges were less than opulent in the memory of Toronto sprinter Abigail Hoffman.

"Those tiny old things they gave us cost about a nickel a dozen," said Miss Hoffman, who competed in the 400 and 800 metres.

Rookie Makes Sid Look Like Genius

Crozier's Hot Work Lifts Detroit Into Tie for Top

By Canadian Press

Sid Abel is beginning to look like a hockey genius. But that was hardly the popular opinion last June when the Detroit coach unloaded veteran goalie Terry Sawchuk in the National Hockey League draft for $20,000. Toronto Maple Leafs couldn't believe it, but gladly snapped him up.

That left the Red Wings with a virtually untried 22-year-old youngster to do a man's job. The rookie, Roger Crozier, was plainly on the spot and so was Abel.

"If he doesn't do the job, I'll be sitting out there in the stands like everyone else, wondering what the devil went wrong," Abel admitted.

"But I have the utmost confidence in him—he's going to be a star in this league. He's quick and he's got fast hands."

Abel's prediction appeared weak during Detroit's first three games when Crozier allowed a total of 11 goals. But look at him now.

LEADS IN SHUTOUTS
The freshman goalie has given up just one goal in his last three outings en route to taking the NHL shutout lead with two. The Red Wings, in the process, have climbed into a four-way tie for first place. It's not a coincidence.

Crozier blanked New York Rangers 1-0 during the week to kick off his current hot streak. During the weekend he allowed Montreal Canadiens only one goal as the Wings battled to a 1-1 draw and shut out Boston Bruins 4-0 Sunday night.

Toronto and New York fought to a 1-1 sawoff in the only other game played Saturday evening and Chicago's Black Hawks, paced by Bobby Hull's three goals, whipped the Rangers 5-2 the following night.

Crozier turned back 18 of 19 shots fired at him by Montreal and lost his shutout bid at 15:11 of the third period as Canadiens earned their third draw in as many home games.

Alex Delvecchio had given the Wings a 1-0 lead at the 57-second mark of the final frame by beating Charlie Hodge, who faced 27 shots as the Wings outlasted Montreal by a narrow margin before 14,180 Forum customers.

Crozier then blanked the pinchless Bruins on 26 shots before a disappointed Boston crowd of 11,476. The Bruins have managed just seven goals in six games.

AGAIN SETS PACE
Delvecchio again paced the Wings with two goals while Norm Ullman and Ron Murphy tallied their second goals of the season.

But the lead in the goal-scoring department belongs to Hull, whose three-goal performance in New York ran his season total to five in five games. Stan Mikita scored twice and earned two assists to open up a four-point lead in the individual scoring race.

A New York crowd of 14,192 watched Jim Mikol give them a brief 1-0 lead before Hull got to work.

Surtees Crowned

MEXICO CITY (Reuters)—Dan Gurney of California won the Mexican Grand Prix here Sunday, with John Surtees of Britain second and Lorenzo Bandini of Italy third.

The result of the 202-mile race gave Surtees the world's drivers' championship.

Scotland's Jim Clark, who had led throughout the race, had to quit on the last lap when his Lotus sprang an oil leak.

Surtees, with his second place, finished with 49 points to Graham Hill's 39 in the contest for the title.

Hill had dropped back from the leaders after a minor collision on the 30th lap.

CHINOOKS TRIUMPH

Gregory Noticed Early and Often

There appears to be little chance that they'll be calling Ken Gregory the "invisible man" of the Inter-City Junior Basketball League this season.

Last winter, Victoria Chinooks claimed their rivals never noticed Gregory was on the floor until he had scored about 20 points.

Saturday night at Central Junior High School Gregory was noticed early and often by North Vancouver Mountaineers. He was the target of strong checking all the way but still managed to drop in 19 points and lead Chinooks to an 84-59 triumph.

Ron Bowker, another sophomore with the defending league champions, also clicked for 15 points in Victoria's opening game of the new season, and John Lauvaas contributed 13.

Steve Allison set the scoring pace for the Mountaineers with 16 points.

Chinooks got away to a flying start to run up 13 points before their rivals fired their first basket. Chinooks were working on a 41-26 lead at half time and coach Ollie Goldsmith was able to give all his players regular turns on the floor in the final half.

MARPOLE WINS
At Vancouver Sunday, Marpole Bulldogs, newest entry in the league, grabbed an early lead and hung on to defeat Kerrisdale Merchants 65-56.

Mark Churchillland topped scorers with 15 points for Marpole. Ken Ramsay netted 14 for Kerrisdale.

Scoring:
VICTORIA CHINOOKS—Bowker 19, Spavens 8, Jackson 11, Hunter 2, K. Gregory 19, D. Gregory 3, Newham 3, Barnwell 6, Lauvaas 15, Total 84.

Lions Are WFC Kings If Stamps Play Dead

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The giants of the Western Football Conference meet Wednesday night in a clash that could decide the 1964 regular season championship.

They are British Columbia Lions, who lead the conference by one point after a 20-3 win over Saskatchewan Roughriders at Vancouver Saturday and Calgary Stampeders, who edged fourth-place Edmonton Eskimos 17-16 at Edmonton.

B.C. has two games yet to play, against the Stampede's Wednesday night at Calgary and against Winnipeg Nov. 1 in Vancouver.

If B.C. wins one of its remaining two games, Calgary has no chance to gain a playoff bye. B.C. winds up its season next weekend against Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who haven't won in nine weeks. Calgary has one game remaining.

Quarterback Joe Kapp scored the only Lions' touchdown before 30,856 fans Saturday night. Peter Kempf accounted for the majority of the scoring with four field goals—two from 27 yards and one each from 35 and 12 yards out—and a convert. Punter Ron Morris hoisted a single field goal for the Riders' only score. The Lions lost offensive guard Tom Hinton and defensive back Neal Beaumont with sprained knee ligaments. Indications are both will miss the remaining regular-season games. Reg Whitehouse kicked a field goal for the Riders' only score.

Flanker Bob Taylor scored both Calgary touchdowns before 10,000 fans at Edmonton. Larry Robinson converted both to retain his scoring lead. Jim Furlong completed the scoring with three singles to highlight a sensational punting performance.

BREAKS SEASON RECORD

End Tommy-Joe Coffey led Edmonton with 11 pass receptions to break the WFC season record of 74 set by Taylor last year. Coffey has 77 of a total gain of 1,122 yards. The league record of 1,123 yards gained is held by Ernie Pitts of Winnipeg. Eskimos have one game remaining.

Coffey hauled in a 28-yard pass from quarterback Bill Redell for one touchdown. Halfback Butch Pressley charged up the middle for three yards for the other and centre Bill Mitchell donated a convert and a 27-yard field goal.

Stamps held a wide margin in statistics with 26 first downs on 220 yards rushing and 197 passing as Eagle Day clicked 16 times in 19 pass attempt. Redell completed 17 of 23 as Edmonton gained 187 yards through the air and 115 on the ground for 16 first downs.

KAPP HAD BIG DAY

Furlong's singles travelled 45, 65 and 85 yards.

Kapp had a big day with his passing attack against Saskatchewan. He completed 20 of 31 passes for 312 yards.

Saskatchewan pivot Bob Piatek, playing his third game since Ron Lancaster suffered a rib injury, completed 11 of 23 passes and lost interceptions to Mack Burton, Tom Brown and Bill Muncey.

The interception was Muncey's eighth of the season, tops in the league.

Rushing leader Lovell Coleman of Calgary gained 144 yards to all but wrap up his second ground-gaining title in as many years.

Ted Kissinger Sparks 'Louis'

Ted Kissinger galloped for three touchdowns Sunday to boost St. Louis College into a tie for first place in the Norm Fieldgate Bantam Football League.

Kissinger's scoring spree enabled St. Louis to down Victoria Trojans 37-21 and pull even with the Trojans in the top spot.

In other games Sunday, Gordon Head Chargers charged past Oak Bay 25-0 and Esquimalt Lions tripped Glen Lake Roughriders 25-18 despite three touchdowns by Glen Lake's Bob Allen.

NICE, France—Sugar Ray Robinson, New York, outpouted Jackie Callinan, France, 10, Middleweights.

Birds Nip Firemen

VANCOUVER - Vancouver's power-stacked Columbus side scored a second straight 1-0 victory Sunday to regain its hold on first place in the Pacific Coast Soccer League.

A goal with only two minutes remaining gave Columbus the decision over North Shore, Columbus defeated Victoria United by a similar 1-0 score the previous Sunday.

Sunday's goal came on a last desperate drive by Columbus with time running out. Outside left George Zambrano hit the net from two yards out on a hard pass from right winger Barry Thakali.

The defeat was the fourth straight for North Shore, which has yet to score a goal this season.

MAJOR UPSET

UBC Thunderbirds, the league's newest entry, scored the biggest upset of the season by blanking defending champion Firefighters 1-0.

And they did it without scoring a goal!

The game's only goal came at the 23-minute mark of the second half when Firefighter fullback Gary Stevens headed the ball back into his own net in an unsuccessful attempt to pass to his goalie, Ken Pears. Pears couldn't stop the ball.

ROYALS BLANK VICTORIA 2-0

United Stays in Burned-Out Park

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Victoria United will continue to use Royal Athletic Park despite the fact Sunday's fire demolished the major portion of the main stands.

Fred Magee, manager of Victoria's Pacific Coast Soccer League entry, said after Sunday's disastrous blaze United "will carry on as it has."

"It will be awkward, but we have no intention of transferring United's home games to Vancouver. Macdonald Park will be available on certain dates but we don't want to schedule games there unless we absolutely have to.

"We've talked it over with George Warren (of the city parks department) and he says there's no reason why we can't continue. The main entrance will, of course, be barricaded so we'll have to use the entrance on Vancouver Street."

Magee also said that all of United's equipment was recovered with the help of caretaker Don Jessop.

"We were very fortunate in that respect."

United's next game is an exhibition match with the District League's all-stars on Saturday. The team isn't scheduled to play a PCSL match until Nov. 7 when United meets Vancouver Firefighters.

United certainly didn't set the park on fire Saturday when it lost a 2-0 decision to New Westminster Royals before a turnout of only 615 fans.

Royals, sparked by exceptional strength down the centre, were worthy winners.

B.C. Bombers Out of Chase

EDMONTON (CP) — Edmonton Huskies, defending Canadian Junior Football champions, shot into the Western Canada finals against Regina Rams with a 13-0 victory Sunday over the British Columbia champion Vancouver Blue Bombers. Huskies, scored a single in the second quarter, then put together two fourth-quarter touchdowns by Ron Malicky and Ross Bradford for the victory.

The game, played before about 3,000 fans at Clarke Stadium, was a vicious, defensive battle, until the Huskies' offensive power broke through in the fourth quarter.

Lack of finish around the Westminster goal was Victoria's biggest failing.

Throughout the 90 minutes, Victoria had but two golden opportunities to take a shutout away from Barry Sadler. They missed both. Veteran Ced Robb, set up beautifully by Ash Waldal at the 25-minute mark, banged the ball over the goal from the three-yard line.

Then, 12 minutes into the second half, United was awarded a penalty kick when Royals' Jim Cowie, the right half, was called for "hands."

Fullback Dave Stothard took the kick but Sadler anticipated correctly and made a great save. The referee, however, gave United another chance by ruling that Sadler moved too soon. This time centre half Bill Hamilton took the kick and fired the ball over the goal.

That was "it" as far as United was concerned.

Sadler, in goal, George Wright, at centre half, and Tony Crisp, at centre forward, were New Westminster's standouts.

Wright, like Sadler, most anxious to beat his one-time mates, played an outstanding game at his position and smothered most of United's sorties.

Offensively, Crisp was Mr. Big. He set up winger Sigi Gohringer for Royals' opening goal at the nine-minute mark. Then with only seconds remaining in the first half, Crisp made a fine, diagonal cross to fleet Don Wilson and the latter made no mistake with a sizzling drive to the short side.

Crisp also scored a goal at the 15-minute mark but it was called back on an offside. At 91 minutes, Crisp was deprived of another goal on a great play by Victoria goalie Larry DeCosta.

The Royals, sparked by the capable Crisp, seemed to have little difficulty in opening up a carefree Victoria defence. And although United moved the ball well at midfield, at times, they wrecked many offensive thrusts by passing to the man rather than to the space.

In addition, United players passed too quickly far too often. In several instances, and without a Royal near them, the Uniteds passed before drawing a defender.

what is red and black with white stripes, and pulls a ton for a few cents a mile?

A CN diesel locomotive... pulling power for the most efficient form of transportation on earth.

Here are just a few reasons why it's so good at moving goods:

- (1) It's got the right of way all the way. (2) It's weatherproof. Neither fog nor snow nor rain can stop it.
- (3) Five men keep a 100-car train rolling.
- (4) Steel wheels glide on steel rails with hardly more friction than ball bearings.

There are many more reasons. But these should explain why a diesel locomotive can pull a ton for just a few cents a mile.

True - not all of CN's 225,000 tons of shipping a day travels so inexpensively.

Elephants don't, for example.

But, for almost anything you can think of, shipping by CN is the fastest way to save money.

Anywhere along CN's 25,000 miles of track.

*Most anywhere in Canada's 10 provinces.

Put your shipping on the rails. Ship CN and save!

Have you a distribution problem?

Your CN Freight Sales Representative has a whole CN engineering team of experts to help him help you. Let CN engineering examine every aspect of your distribution pattern for ways to save you money.

Sox to Travel In Own Plane

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago White Sox will travel in their own plane, a DC-7B, next baseball season.

Arthur Allen, owner of the White Sox, bought the 56-passenger craft for an estimated $1,250,000.

The White Sox will use the plane on all trips with possible exception of West Coast jaunts, when commercial jets may be used.

The White Sox, who travelled the past two seasons in a hired DC-6, thus join the Los Angeles Dodgers in club-owned plane travel.

Oak Bay Schools Top Annual Swimming Gala

Oak Bay schools swept team honors Saturday in the 39th annual inter-school swimming and diving gala at the Crystal Garden pool.

They won "with room to spare."

Oak Bay won the Sir Edward Beatty Trophy, emblematic of senior secondary schools competition by amassing 181 points, 71 more than second-place Esquimalt.

Oak Bay Junior High topped the junior secondary ranks, claiming the Dickinson and Dunn Trophy, by picking up 1,237 points. Esquimalt again finished second with 87 points. The Victoria Daily Times Trophy, revived for elementary competition this year, was won by Willow, which finished 21 points ahead of Doncaster.

Boaters Wanted By Falcon Squad

Falcons of the Combination Soccer League are on the lookout for players. Anyone interested in playing in the Saturday league is asked to telephone John Rice, EV 4-9795.

In Saturday's games, Falcons dropped a 1-0 duke to Navy; Island Tug nipped Malahat 3-1; Royal Roads beat Rangers 3-0, and Firefighters blanked Duncan 4-0.

A whopping total of 140 heats were run off in the two-day competition. Thirty schools participated.

Individual honors Saturday went to Mary Helen Johansen of Esquimalt. She became the meet's only triple winner with victories in the girls' 17 and over 50-yard butterfly, backstroke and 100-yard freestyle events.

Peter Cruise, Ross Bruce, Grant Treloar, Eric Grossman, Linda Flett, Lorry Cosby, Lynn Grossman and Nancy Robson emerged with double triumphs in the gala sponsored by the Victoria Amateur Swimming Club.

A Little Planning Pays Off

A corner of the garden which is densely shaded in summer by deciduous trees may be made of interest at all seasons.

The colors common to full sunshine areas may be lacking, but thoughtful planning will produce pleasant results. That shady corner will become your favorite sitting-out spot on hot days.

Woodland ferns love such a position and repay the preparation of the soil and the addition of humus. As companions, plant some hellebores.

Hellebores niger is the so-called Christmas-rose, and even now has its fat buds pushing through the soil. A little sun during winter and shade for the summer is ideal. N. orientalis has a more extended season of bloom, and the numerous white, greenish, or pinkish blossoms to a stem are held high above the large glossy leaves.

For early spring color, Polemonium caeruleum is a good choice, and unusual. Three-foot branching sprays of flat lilac-blue flowers with gold stamens are practically continuous from early May through the summer.

Low growing foliage accent plants for shady places are to be found among the hostas, or fuchsias as they were known until recently.

There are hostas with large grey-green leaves and ones with green and cream leaves. All grow easily into large clumps, and have spikes of flowers in varying shades of mauve in summer.

A complete contrast in leaf form and flower is Astilbe japonica, still called by many gardeners by the old name of Spira japonica. The finely divided leaves may be green or bronze in color, and the densely clustered plumes of feathery blossoms are as airy as the summer breezes, or the sunset-tipped clouds.

Colors run from white through shades of pink to a deep shade of garnet red.

Sufficient preparation of the soil in shady places, using quantities of compost, will ensure the added moisture usually required by shade-loving plants in summer. Drainage, however, must be adequate for winter months.

BULLET DIDN'T MISS LIKE 'OLE MISS'

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A physician fatally shot himself Saturday night after boasting to friends he would play Russian roulette "If Ole Miss does not win the football game."

Dr. A. E. Holmes of Terry, Miss., was listening to the Mississippi-Vanderbilt college football game on radio with friends. The game at Nashville, Tenn., ended in a 7-7 tie.

When the game was over, Holmes removed a revolver from his coat pocket, friends said, took out five of the six cartridges, twirled the cylinder, pointed the pistol at his head and fired.

A coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by suicide.

'WE WILL LISTEN' if Red China has anything constructive to discuss, says U.S. undersecretary of state George W. Ball. Ball said the U.S. is always available for "dialogues" with China through the current arrangement in Warsaw.

PM DILEMMA: A NEW FLAG OR PENSION

MISSION, B.C. (CP)—T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, says Prime Minister Pearson is on the horns of a dilemma.

Mr. Douglas said at a party nominating meeting here at the weekend the prime minister has promised to have a maple leaf flag and a pension plan before the end of the year.

He said it seems unlikely that the House of Commons flag committee will present a unanimous recommendation when it reports to the Commons creating the dilemma—whether to proceed with the pension plan or the flag debate.

Selassie Cancels Visit

KHARTOUM (Reuters) — A planned 24-hour visit to the Sudan today by Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia was postponed following demonstrations here in which eight people have died.

No new date for the emperor's visit was fixed. Armed and infantry units patrolled the streets of Khartoum after three people were killed Sunday night in demonstrations which began Thursday. Hundreds were reported arrested and a large number of injured taken to hospital.

The interior ministry said the trouble began Thursday when Khartoum university students attacked police with sticks, bottles and stones.

The students had been holding an "unlawful discussion circle on the Southern Sudan problem."

The Southern Sudan is largely Negro and there have been reports for some time of unrest there. The north is mainly Moslem.

In the clash, one student was killed and eight others and 36 policemen injured, the interior ministry said.

Diplomatic reports reaching Cairo said a "largely successful" strike had taken hold of Khartoum, closing down government offices, banks and private businesses.

President Ibrahim Abboud Sunday suspended two supreme court judges for "inciting court officials and employees to strike for an unlimited period," the reports said.

Other reports said ex-premier Ismail Azhari and other political figures were under house arrest for encouraging demonstrations.

Scottish Firm Appears Winner In Press Fight

LONDON (CP) — Publisher Lord Thomson appears to have lost his fight for the Outram Group of Scottish newspapers.

His rival bidder, Sir Hugh Fraser, announced Saturday his corporation had documents providing that more than 50 per cent of Outram shareholders were not in favor of giving control of Outrams to Thomson.

"All I can say is that if Sir Hugh Fraser has won, the shareholders of Outrams and Scotland itself will quite certainly have lost," the Canadian-born Thomson said.

ANCIENT WEAPONS in the Knights of Pythias Hall were examined by goodly crowds that flocked through on Sunday for the second annual antique gun show sponsored by the Vancouver Island Arms Collectors Association. Jacques Abbott, 2125 Central, examines a 1902 Luger carbine and an 1893 Borchardt pistol. More than 1,000 antique guns were on display.

N.Z. MAY APOLOGIZE FOR ROYAL MOCK BOW

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (UPI)—New Zealand Prime Minister Keith Holyoake said today he expects a report on an Olympics closing incident in which New Zealanders reportedly angered the Japanese emperor with mock bows.

The prime minister said he knew nothing of the incident except from newspaper reports and could not tell whether the incident was foolishness on the part of the alleged offenders or not.

Government sources here believe the incident is unlikely to stir government action unless the Japanese lodge an official protest.

A government spokesman said it would be a matter for an apology by the New Zealand Olympic team management.

FROM MINOR ETHNIC GROUPS

Folk Art Festival's Goal

OTTAWA (CP) — A national conference is being convened here in two weeks to plan participation in the 1967 centenary of Confederation by those who do not count the United Kingdom or France as their family homes.

Organized for the federal Centennial Commission, the gathering will bring together representatives of organized ethnic groups from across Canada. The object is to encourage the organization of folk art groups in major centres which do not now have them, and perhaps a national federation of such groups through which the Centennial Commission can work.

According to the 1961 census, 43.8 per cent of Canadians gave their ethnic origins as English, Irish, Scottish or other British origin, and 30.4 per cent as French.

The census counted 5.8 per cent of Canadians as of German origin, 2.6 per cent Ukrainian, 2.5 per cent Italian, 2.4 per cent Dutch, and 1.8 per cent Polish.

It is among these groups that the centennial planners are looking for distinctive contributions to the centenary.

Work has already begun in centennial planning by another important cultural element of Canada — the native Indians. The National Indian Council has received grants for administrative costs and is planning pow-wow-type observances both for the 1967 world's fair in Montreal, and for Indian celebrations in Northern Ontario and Western Canada.

TV Violence Linked To Juvenile Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. Senate investigators are prepared to issue a report charging that there is a conclusive relationship between juvenile delinquency and television shows emphasizing crime and violence.

The report, expected shortly, has been signed by a majority of the Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency headed by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd (D-Conn.).

The Senate group's findings are based on years of study and public hearings into the cause of juvenile delinquency.

The report, in its summary, said the subcommittee found "on the basis of expert testimony and impressive research evidence, that a relationship has been conclusively established between televised crime and violence and anti-social attitudes and behavior among juvenile viewers."

"It is clear that television, whose impact on the public mind is equal to or greater than that of any other medium, is a factor in molding the character, attitudes and behavior patterns of America's young people," said the report.

'Merciless' Lampooning Acclaimed

Beyond the Fringe, a sharply-pointed series of satirical sketches written by four Oxford and Cambridge graduates, will be presented on the stage of the Royal Theatre, Monday, Nov. 2, at 8:30 p.m.

Featured in the cast are Toronto actor Donald Cullen, Robert Cessna, Patrick Horgan and Joel Fabiani, who appeared in the original New York and London productions.

Produced by Alexander H. Cohen, the show has been acclaimed on both sides of the Atlantic for its merciless and literate lampooning of a wide range of familiar subjects and famous people, including Queen Elizabeth, Bertrand Russell, Dame Myra Hess and William Shakespeare.

SATIRE ON QUEEN

One of the scenes is a satire on the Queen's visit to Quebec, emphasizing the clash of feeling between loyalists and French nationalists.

An advance agent for the revue, who visited Victoria recently, said he hoped this would not evoke the kind of picketing which occurred when Queen Elizabeth was impersonated in The Establishment.

Punch magazine described Beyond the Fringe as "one of the most civilized-theatrical bon-bons of its time, directing some of its sharpest barbs at fatuous blather handed down as holy writ."

Newsweek called it "the funniest show in America."

'Film Star' Wants Pay From GOPs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—One of the stars of the controversial Republican film Choice Saturday sought payment for her part—with the money to be contributed to the Johnson-for-president campaign.

The GOP campaign film had been scheduled for national television network release, but was withdrawn even after extensive editing.

However, the unedited version of the film has been running continuously in such places as the San Francisco Goldwater-for-president headquarters. The film asserts there has been a decline in U.S. morality during the Johnson administration.

Carol Harrison, a statuesque brunette better known to San Franciscans as Exotica, appears in the film doing her night club routine and again wearing a topless bathing suit.

Friday she threatened to sue the GOP unless she is paid "a reasonable sum" for appearing in the film.

'LUNATIC' 25 Pickets Protest CBC Nazi Show

TORONTO (CP) — Jewish leaders and Royal Canadian Legion members filed protests and pickets paraded outside the CBC studios Sunday night when the network put on a 12-minute television interview with George Lincoln Rockwell, self-styled commander of the American Nazi party.

A CBC spokesman said there were a number of telephone calls following the show, some critical and other complimentary, in addition to calls before the program requesting that it be withdrawn.

About 25 demonstrators outside the studio carried signs reading "CBC co-operates with Nazis" and "there is no place for Nazis in democracy".

Representatives of 30 Jewish organizations, representing 20,000 persons, protested the CBC's action in giving Rockwell a platform on a Canadian network. The group said Rockwell represents only a lunatic fringe and should not be elevated to respectability.

A Toronto-area branch of the Royal Canadian Legion demanded an investigation into the standards and procedures of the CBC public-affairs department, to determine the motivation which resulted in publicity for Rockwell at public expense.

SPORTS SWASTIKA

The interview was filmed in Washington by Douglas Leiterman, producer of the hour-long show This Hour has Seven Days, and reporter Robert Holt. It showed Rockwell in a shirt with a swastika armband, surrounded by henchmen wearing uniforms and armbands.

Rockwell used the interview to express his opposition to Jews and Negroes. He claimed to have 250,000 supporters and said he would be president of the United States by 1972.

The same program included a four-minute segment of a debate at film paid for by supporters of Senator Barry Goldwater but which the Republican presidential nominee has been kept off United States television.

The segments showed scenes of speeding cars emitting beer cans, riots, police with night sticks, semi-nude night club dancers and a woman in a topless bathing suit.

FRIEND OF HUNDREDS

Famed Sportsman, Cougar Hunter Dies

One of Vancouver Island's best known cougar hunters and outdoorsman died suddenly Saturday.

Christopher (Chris) George Behnson, who shot more than 150 cougars during his lifetime, died at his Shawnigan Lake home at the age of 83 years.

Born at Oakland, Calif., his family moved to Victoria when he was a child. He was educated at Spring Ridge school.

He was the son of H. F. W. Behnson, owner of a cigar factory known as Big-B, and later an MLA with the McBride government.

Mr. Behnson took over the management of the cigar factory, then located on Trowace Alley, when his father entered politics in 1903. Later he operated a successful trucking business, but his heart was in outdoor life, and he gave this up to become a professional hunter.

He lived most of his life at Shawnigan Lake where he became the friend of hundreds of hunters and fishermen. There were few men who knew the interior of south Vancouver Island as well as he did.

In his later years, Mr. Behnson gave up hunting and turned naturalist.

At his Shawnigan Lake home, it was not uncommon to see him feeding deer, racoon and mink and even combining the fur of squirrels. He was fond of his animals and would not let anyone harm them.

Private funeral services will be held for Behnson at Chaplin's Funeral Chapel on Tuesday at 11 a.m. Cremation will follow.

His ashes will be scattered at Shawnigan Lake and around one of his favorite hunting cabins situated west of the lake.

He is survived by the widow, Selena; three sons, Henry, Ronald and Fred, all of Victoria, and one brother, Shaw Behnson of Merritt.

SAANICHTON
PLAGUED BY CROWS

A plague of crows is reported in the Saanichton area.

"There were 300 on our farm this morning and, when we drove them away, each had a walnut in its mouth," said Mrs. Sig Johnson, 1850 Prosser.

"They're eating up all our apples and walnuts and, a while ago, they raided our strawberries and loganberries. Yet the law says we can't use firearms in the Saanichton area."

Mrs. Johnson said the crows have been active all summer and many neighboring farms have suffered.

"What are we supposed to do about it?" she asked.

A spokesman for the B.C. game department said the answer lies with Saanichton Police.

"If the police are satisfied the crows are a menace, to crops, they will issue a permit for the use of firearms," he said.

A spokesman for Saanichton Fruit Growers' Association said the crows seemed "extra hot" on walnuts this year.

Curtis Wins Saanich Reeveship After Socko Finale Topples Lum

By LESLIE MILLIN

Hugh Austin Curtis was elected Saanich's youngest-ever reeve Saturday night in the municipality's strangest-ever byelection.

An unprecedented 300-vote error had left the crowd in the municipal hall convinced for an hour that Ed Lum won the reeveship by 178 votes.

But Mr. Curtis, 32, came out on top by 122 ballots after returning officer Gordon Hayward spent an hour in a locked room with both men, checking the contents of the Cloverdale polling station ballot box.

Mr. Lum's supporters had mobbed him with congratulations after all polling stations telephoned results into the municipal hall.

They thought he had won the post he so narrowly missed last December when he lost by 184 votes to Reeve Stanley Murphy.

Instead, the reeveship was snatched away from him at the last minute for the second time in 10 months.

He is asking for a recount.

'ISN'T OVER YET'

"As far as I'm concerned, this election isn't over yet," Mr. Lum told the Times this morning.

"The matter is in the hands of my lawyer. I'm definitely going for a recount."

The ulcer-grating mixup over the reeveship race overshadowed the race for a council job.

William Campbell won the seat, easily defeating five other candidates.

His nearest rival was Lt.-Col. Harry Shergold, who trailed him by about 1,400 votes.

Both Mr. Campbell and Mr. Curtis are serving remaining council terms, and will be up for re-election in 1965.

As far as Mr. Curtis is concerned, he has won the gamble he undertook when he resigned his council seat to seek the job vacated by Reeve Murphy, now teaching in Africa.

SWEARING-IN TONIGHT

He is making arrangements to be sworn in as reeve just before the council meeting a week from tonight.

"This week will be spent in a series of familiarization meetings with senior officials, starting with comptroller-treasurer John Tribe today," said Mr. Curtis, who is son of Victoria Alderman Austin Curtis.

He said he plans no immediate changes of a major nature but one.

"At the first council meeting I will appoint the three-man standing fire committee I promised during the campaign. It isn't being set up to investigate the fire chief appointment."

"It's being set up as a standing committee, an impartial one, and they'll do whatever they want."

Mr. Curtis and Mr. Lum both polled considerably more votes than the third candidate, dockyard chauffeur Lewis Haut, who was ill during most of the campaign.

The tension in the municipal hall Saturday night was as unprecedented as the byelection's peculiarity.

The crowd was watching the reeveship race on the blackboard, as municipal employees chalked up results telephoned from the polling stations.

CURTIS LANDSLIDE

Mr. Lum led the first few polls, then dropped behind as the Frank Hobbs School station reported a landslide for Mr. Curtis.

The lead started to seaway, with Mr. Lum picking up towards the end of the evening.

It was close all the way, and the crowd held its breath as the last polling station results were chalked up and the "final" figures calculated.

But within a few minutes, the returning officer had called both men aside and notified them formally that he had noticed a discrepancy in the results.

Behind a locked door, with both men there, Mr. Hayward opened the ballot box.

"As soon as he took the white (reeveship) ballots out, we could see there had been an error," said Mr. Curtis.

"The two piles were almost the same height."

The telephoned figures were 722-425 in favor of Mr. Lum.

Counting the ballots took about an hour, and showed Mr. Curtis as slightly ahead in the poll that original figures showed him as losing heavily.

Few people were left in the municipal hall by then.

Mr. Lum walked out glumly, his hands in his pockets, through the room where an hour before he had been lifted in victory on his supporters' shoulders.

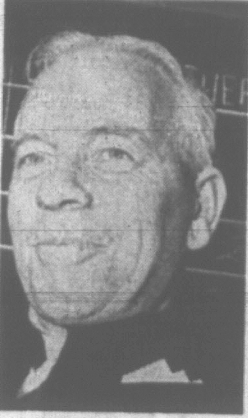

SHAKEN UP

Mr. Curtis told reporters he was "shaken" by the experience.

Mr. Campbell, who was defeated by a narrow margin at council elections in December, promised to work for a unified council.

Later, Mr. Curtis agreed with him: "I think many voters have been upset by constant council wrangling."

"Now, I want to get things in Saanich moving again."

WILLIAM CAMPBELL

LUM BALLOT PILE COUNTED TWICE

Only after candidate Ed Lum's supporters had joyously acclaimed him reeve did the upsetting poll error come to light.

When reporters began to tabulate results by polling stations, it became obvious that many more votes for reeve had been registered at Cloverdale than for council.

A preliminary check indicated that 331 more votes for reeve were cast, as compared with between two and 16 at other polls.

Returning officer Gordon Hayward saw the discrepancy when the ballots and forms were brought in from Cloverdale.

In the presence of both candidates, he opened the ballot box and counted the ballots again.

His official count concluded, Mr. Hayward corrected the unofficial blackboard counts to reduce Mr. Lum's total by 300.

Mr. Hayward told The Times that the error is unprecedented in Saanich as far as he knows.

He pointed out that no candidate had been officially declared winner on the basis of the early blackboard returns.

Mr. Hayward put down the mistake to a clerk's counting the same pile of Lum ballots twice.

He said there was no irregularity in the voting.

THIS JOY VANISHED for candidate Ed Lum and his wife when the counting error was discovered. A few moments after this triumphant picture was taken, Mr. Lum knew that for the second time in 10 months, he'd just missed being Saanich's reeve.

FIRECRACKER BURNS BOY, 7; COMPLAINTS FLOOD POLICE

Firecrackers went on sale in the city Saturday and within hours complaints about them started to pour in to police of all surrounding municipalities.

The first accident reported with them occurred early Sunday afternoon. Saanich police said Richard Bryan, 7, of 1740 Taylor, was burned by a firecracker that a youth threw at him.

The firecracker exploded under Bryan's shirt. He was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital and discharged after treatment.

NDP CLAIM

More Doctors, Higher Income With Medicare

Doctors are earning more money through medicare than they did under private health schemes, a former Saskatchewan cabinet minister said here today.

A. M. "Sandy" Nicholson, New Democratic Party MLA for Saskatoon, said Saskatchewan doctors now earn more than the national average of $17,000 a year.

Medicare has also solved the problem of doctors to practise in remote rural areas, he said.

NO BAD DEBTS

"They have no bad debts to worry about," he said.

Their income is assured through the government scheme.

"The scheme is working well," said Mr. Nicholson, welfare minister until the NDP's defeat last April.

"In spite of the forecast that doctors would leave the province, we have more doctors than ever before, more specialists and more doctors in small communities."

Mr. Nicholson is on a cross-Canada tour for the national NDP.

He said he has found a general feeling that the federal government should not waste so much time on a new flag, but should get cracking with medicare by implementing recommendations of the Hall Royal Commission.

NO CHARITY

"The Hall Commission showed poor people have more sickness and delay going to the doctor because they don't want to accept charity," he said.

Mr. Nicholson predicted all Canada will have medicare within 10 years.

He also predicted that Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher's Liberals will lose the next provincial election.

Mr. Thatcher has made statements recently that will be very unpopular in his home province, he said.

These include the statement that Canada can't afford medicare and a pension plan, and another that Saskatchewan would join the U.S. if Quebec leaves confederation.

He said Mr. Thatcher is afraid to call any byelections and has failed to fulfil costly election promises.

Salmon Miss Their Curtain Call

The audience was at Goldstream River on Sunday but the big show didn't go on.

More than 2,000 persons—at least half of them children—scrambled along the banks to watch the spawning salmon but only about 50 were on stage.

A few cohoes were spotted in the higher pools and some pinks in the lower pools.

Conservationist Freeman King reported they were in good condition and averaged about six pounds each.

The salmon returning now will spawn and

Drivers Rapped With Fines, Jail

Stinging indictment of Victoria driving was delivered in central police court today by Magistrate William Ostler.

Referring to "vehicular violence" and "motor menace," the magistrate deplored driving habits that are causing "increasing public apprehension in this city."

He fined 19-year-old Jack Marynavitch, 785 Gladia, $400 for dangerous driving, prohibited him from driving anywhere in Canada for two years and tacked on a $25 fine for having no driver's licence.

$615 IN FINES

In other driving cases he levied fines totalling $615.00 and sent man to jail for 10 days.

Marynavitch was arrested by police at 5:30 a.m. Sunday after being chased by Saanich and Victoria police patrol cars at speeds up to 70 miles an hour over a half mile of narrow streets in the Finlayson-Rose-Kings area.

He told police he was trying to get away because he had no driver's licence, and finally stopped because he drove up a blind alley at 50 miles an hour to be confronted by a large rock blocking escape.

Mr. Ostler said "it has to be understood by people like you that there doesn't have to be injury or damage to property to constitute a danger."

WHAT'S TO BE DONE?

If the "vehicular violence" that is going on in the streets of this country" continues, the magistrate said, "I don't know what's to be done."

Gunnwald Heggelund, 1966 Casa Marcia, was fined $350 for leaving the scene of an accident in which he repeatedly drove his car into one parked behind, jamming a woman driver's leg and foot in the driver's doorway.

Police said his car had been parked in Shelbourne Plaza. Heggelund reversed it against the open door of a small car whose driver, Joan E. Bertram, 4386 Chartwell, was standing on the pavement leaning into the auto.

REVERSED AGAIN

Her door closed on a leg and she screamed. The accused drove forward and the woman climbed into her car in time to catch her foot between the door and seat as Heggelund reversed again, striking her car.

Heggelund did this twice more, court was told, before the woman went to his car and said:

"That was my foot you were up against."

Heggelund, who had been drinking, appeared to be in a daze, she said. But she instructed him to stay put while she called police.

DROVE OFF

The accused drove away as she went to telephone. His car sideswiped another as it left the parking area. By-standers took his licence number.

Later that night Heggelund's car was reported in a ditch and he was located and charged.

Mrs. Bertram suffered bruises and damage to the car was estimated at $60, court was told.

Leonard Charles Nelson, 21,

of 3273 Wicklow, was sentenced to 10 days in jail when he pleaded guilty to drunken driving and fined $50 for being in possession of a switch knife with four-inch blade police found on him when he was arrested.

Police were called to Tolmie Home Service, 3201 Douglas, after occupants of Nelson's car complained he was in no state to drive.

'GALLONS OF IT'

He had driven from a downtown hotel and when police arrived he was lying on a washroom floor fighting and kicking anyone who tried to restrain him, court was told.

When asked how much he had had to drink, police said he replied: "Oh, gallons of it," indicating beer and liquor.

He told Magistrate Ostler the knife was not his and he did not know where he got it.

Lorne R. Smith, 22, of 913 Victoria, was fined $100 for leaving the scene of an accident, $50 for careless driving and $75 on two counts of driving without a licence. He was prohibited from driving for six months.

Police said Smith drove on Cadboro Bay Road, swerved across to hit two parked cars causing $500 damage, stopped, surveyed the scene, then pushed his car to start it and drove away.

Albert Fern White, 2220 Cook, was fined $40 for careless driving.

Saanich Driver In Hospital After Accident

Roderick McMillan, 33A Sims Road, Saanich, was said to be in fair condition with a broken back at Chemainus Hospital today.

McMillan and another Saanich man were injured when their car went out of control on the Island Highway near Chemainus Saturday night.

The passenger, Victor Ward, of 833 Sims Road, owner of the car, was released after treatment for shock.

The car was a complete loss.

DEAR ABBY

Not for Art's Sake

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our son is an art major at a university and he spent the summer in Italy. He had a lot of stuff shipped home that he bought over there. Mostly they are statues of men and ladies and even little children. Everybody naked. There's not a stitch on any of them. Our son wasn't raised that way, but college ruined him. The preacher called on us yesterday and, when I saw him coming up the road, I started moving all those bare naked statues out of sight because I didn't want him looking at them and me at the same time. My husband called me a hypocrite and a backslider. Was I wrong to get that stuff out of sight before I let the preacher in the house?

SHOPPING GUIDE

Gifts Within Gifts—Store Has 'Em All

By PENNY SAVER

Everyone seems to be getting married these days and this means shower and wedding presents. Penny has been invited to several showers lately and at first she was stumped for a gift idea which would be practical and different. She's not stuck now as she found a store which has a wide range of shower gifts for the young housemaker starting out.

These gifts are packaged in gifts. Confused? Well, here are some examples. An unbreakable plastic dustpan contains five dish-cloths and it sells for $1.98. Sponges, dish-cloths and polishing cloths are held in a plastic waste-bag and cost $3.98. Along the same line is a serving basket filled with an apron, pot holders and oven mitts. Price is $4.98.

Leaving women and shower gifts, we go to men and after-shower grooming. I understand from several male friends of mine that a lotion should be applied before using an electric shaver to prevent a razor burn and to set up your beard for a closer shave. Penny found a roll-on pre-shave lotion which moistens beards and speeds up shaving. It dries perspiration, too. The roll-on applicator makes it easier to apply and hands don't get messy. Lotion has a pleasant masculine odor that women will really go for! It is priced at $1.25.

Dandruff is a fairly common complaint among men. Penny found an antiseptic hair cream to fight dandruff while keeping you well-groomed. The medicated lotion adds lustre to hair while it combats bacteria and fungi which cause the scalp to flake. Apply once or twice daily and watch ugly dandruff fade away. There is no greasy or oily look after application, either. A bottle of cream costs 75 cents.

If you want to know where to buy any of these articles, give Penny a call at 382-3131 and find out.

ANNUAL BAZAAR

Autumn Tones Decorate Residence for IODE Tea

Royal Jubilee Hospital nurses' residence was decorated with arrangements of yellow dahlias and yellow and bronze chrysanthemums last Wednesday when the Florence Nightingale Chapter, IODE, held its annual bazaar and tea.

Affair was opened by Miss Elizabeth Forbes and guests were greeted by Mrs. G. Elliott, first vice-regent.

Convenor was Mrs. V. F. Watson and in charge of tea arrangements were Mrs. H. Evans, Mrs. K. Mills and Mrs. Walter Walsh. Special guests included Miss Kathleen Agnew, Mrs. P. B. Sourrah, Sister Mary Doris, director of nursing at St. Joseph's Hospital; Miss Muriel E. Thompson, director of nursing at Royal Jubilee Hospital; Mrs. W. C. Nichol, Mrs. Glenn Coffey, Mrs. R. B. Wilson, Mrs. Frank Skellings, Mrs. A. B. Hall, Nanaimo; Mrs. H. L. Woolson, Miss Christine MacNab, Mrs. V. Sheppard, Mrs. A. G. Fulmer, Miss Clarice Brown, Mrs. M. Dodds, Mrs. H. Davenport, Mrs. A. Laundry, Mrs. N. S. Lockyer, Mrs. C. Riach, Mrs. A. Phipps and Mrs. H. Vantreight.

Proceeds amounted to approximately $450 and will be used towards the chapter's nurses' bursary fund and other hospital work.

Presiding at the urns were Mrs. E. Lowthian, municipal regent; Mrs. Carlton Collard, Mrs. George Masters and Mrs. Peter Bell.

Assisting with serving were the Misses Betsy Casorso, Jose de Bourcier, Heather Auchincloss, Marvel Tollington, Pam Heycock and Sharon Litwen. Stall conveners included Mrs. A. R. Minnis, aprons; Mrs. G. Henderson, candy; Mrs. C. W. Nash, home cooking; Mrs. G. C. Baker, novelties; Mrs. T. W. Colley, lucky dip; Mrs. J. Wright, superfluities; and Mrs. W. R. Roskelley, fortune telling.

Mrs. E. B. Norton was in charge of the doll raffle, Mrs. V. F. Hamilton, pay-what-you-will, and Mrs. William Hudson and Mrs. V. G. Pritchard, receipts.

Seed Pearls and Lace Trim
Exquisite Wedding Gown

A floor-length sheath-style gown of white peau de soie, fashioned with sabrina-neckline and overskirt that extended into a slight train, was worn by Patricia Sandra Mills when she became the bride of Const. Stanley Arthur Hall, RCMP.

The neckline was edged in seed pearls and the overskirt, accented with lace. Her four-tier scalloped veil pouffed to waist-length from a headpiece of hand-made peau de soie and organza roses and pearl clusters. Yellow roses and stephanotis formed her bouquet.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. S. W. Mills, 1915 Fernwood Road, and the late Mr. Mills. The groom's parents are Mrs. A. D. Hall, 362 Kerr Street, and the late Mr. Hall. Darold Mills gave his sister in marriage.

First United Church was decorated with gold and bronze chrysanthemums for the double-ring ceremony at which Rev. R. J. D. Morris officiated. Organist was Mrs. W. H. Gregory. Soloist, W. H. Gregory, sang "I'll Walk Beside You" during signing of the register.

Identical street-length bell-skirted gowns of gold peau de soie were choice of maid of honor, Miss Frankie Sinclair, and bridesmaids, Mrs. T. Horne and Mrs. W. Dingley, sister of the groom. Their headpieces were matching single roses trimmed with net. Their jewelry was pearl necklaces and earrings, gifts of the bride. Yellow chrysanthemums were in their bouquets.

Debra Ann Tymochuk was flower girl for her aunt in a white nylon full-skirted frock. A halo of yellow chrysanthemums was in her hair and she carried a basket of the same flowers.

Const. Robert Copeland, RCMP, was best man. Guests were ushered to pews marked with yellow and white flowers and white ribbon bows by Const. Bob Prest and Const. Ken Biesiegel, RCMP.

An all-white three-tier wedding cake, topped with bells and snowdrops, centred the head table at a reception in the Club Soho. Yellow streamers, white candles and arrangements of gold bows and flowers completed the decorations. Toast was proposed by Merrill Harrop.

For travelling on a honeymoon motoring trip in the Interior and the United States, the bride wore a green Italian knit suit with brown accessories and corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

On return the couple will make their home at 855 Kinderley St.

FLAWLESS
INSTANTLY

As a professional lecturer on skin care I urge you to be constant; never retire at night without first removing your makeup and be thorough about it. Keep your skin well lubricated through out all of the 24 hours of every day and use only cosmetics of known quality and reputation. Your skin is like a delicate flower; it quickly shows neglect and just as quickly recovers. But that does not mean you can't have a perfect complexion at once, without wading through a sea of make-up. There is a new and sensationally better liquid makeup that actually performs almost unbelievable wonders without looking like makeup at all. It is made by the creators of world renowned 2nd Debut, the famous face lotion that contains CEF 600, the scientifically recognized long-lasting line and wrinkle reducer. 2nd Debut Liquid Makeup likewise contains CEF 600. It does help youthify the skin and ever premature. It will give your skin a true French matte finish that absorbs rather than reflects a light. Hence blemishes are not permitted to appear and your skin instantly becomes even and perfect in tone all over. You'll feel that your skin has suddenly and actually grown an entirely new and subtly perfect skin. Your favorite cosmetic counter now features 2nd Debut Liquid Makeup with CEF 600 in five shades of natural origin. You'll see it. It is important to you. It's up to you to give yourself the advantage of 2nd Debut Liquid Makeup with CEF 600.

Hundreds of Victorians Take Time Off To Make a Quick Flip Around the World

You don't need to visit a travel agency these days if you want to make a trip around the world. Hundreds of Victorian women were treated to a global tour Friday—courtesy of the Oak Bay United Church women. Take-off field was the church hall, and the occasion, the group's Harvest Around the World Festival. Colorful travel posters set the decor and each stall represented a different country. The conveners and assistants carried out the theme by wearing the national costumes of the country their stall portrayed. Even Halloween was pictured, Mrs. V. G. Bugslag being dressed in a witch's costume and Mrs. C. V. Chapman interpreting a good-natured "skeleton."

General conveners of affair were Mrs. C. Burnip and Mrs. Alec Hall. Guests were greeted by Mrs. A. G. Landels, president. Special guests included Rev. T. B. McMillan and Rev. and Mrs. Alec Calder. The festival was officially opened by Mrs. Allan Cox and realized the sum of $1,450. A well-patronized highlight was the smorgasbord and cafeteria luncheon which featured a gourmet collection of home-cooked delectables. There were several kinds of casseroles, spaghetti and macaroni dishes, ham, chicken, cole slaws, jellied and tossed salads, pies and cakes. Colorful cloth plates were a cafeteria specialty.

MANY HELPERS

The smorgasbord and cafeteria was convened by Mrs. A. J. Bowering. She was assisted by Mrs. F. S. Dawson, Mrs. Fred Corbett, Mrs. C. D. Smith, Mrs. Clarke Gilbert. Also helping were Mrs. H. Smethurst, Mrs. D. Stott, Miss B. Haldenby, Mrs. R. Davis, Mrs. G. M. Irvine, Mrs. E. W. Snowden, Mrs. H. Mack, Mrs. A. E. Trimble, Mrs. H. J. Tapp, Mrs. G. Murdoch, Mrs. A. W. Hobbs, Mrs. W. T. Clark, Mrs. A. M. Dore, Mrs. O. Doell, Mrs. V. Le Huquet, Mrs. H. McCaw, Mrs. D. Shortt, Mrs. George Farmer, Mrs. F. G. Nesbit and Mrs. C. Gibbard.

A life-sized scarecrow, wearing voluminous pockets with gifts marked specially for "mother," "dad," "sister" and "brother" drew a steady stream of pint-sized customers in the children's corner. The youthful shoppers were also able to invest in book marks, kitty face and pyjama bags, marble bags and other items—all selling at the considerate prices of five or 10 cents. The corner was arranged by Mrs. S. Thompson, Mrs. W. Fry, Mrs. D. Scott, Mrs. I. Cross, Mrs. J. Crowe and Mrs. Robert McConchey.

Other stall conveners and assistants were: Doll clothes, Mrs. J. W. Rainey, Mrs. A. Dallin, Mrs. G. Horwood and Mrs. J. Mac; sewing, Mrs. E. King, Mrs. G. Dunlop and Mrs. D. Alcock; treasures, Mrs. J. C. F. Blowey, Mrs. C. H. Lockhart, Mrs. W. Sutcliffe and Mrs. W. Brown; French Room, Mrs. L. P. Lawler, Mrs. J. Cooper and Mrs. J. Stoddart; novelties, Mrs. W. Cathro, Mrs. C. McLaughlin, Mrs. C. Penty and Mrs. A. Chalmers; knitting stall, Mrs. R. J. Taylor, Mrs. H. A. Robertson, Mrs. C. Boulter, Mrs. F. Grier, Mrs. M. S. McAllister and Mrs. M. Cole; candy stall, Mrs. Burnip, Mrs. Bugslag, Mrs. C. Neilson, Mrs. A. P. Bugslag, Mrs. W. Lewis and Mrs. Chapman.

Mrs. D. Dalgleish convened the home cooking stall, being assisted by Mrs. F. W. Belcher, Mrs. G. Kitson, Mrs. B. Williams, Mrs. G. Gonnason, Mrs. A. Wood, Mrs. E. Jasper, Mrs. E. Warholme and Mrs. G. Windjack. Apron booth was in charge of Mrs. P. Bugslag.

Mrs. and Mrs. W. G. Fävel of Dauphin, Man., announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Joan Lavina, to Mr. Wilfred Alois Bauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alois Bauer of Grandview, Man. The wedding will take place on Saturday, Nov. 7, at 4:30 p.m. in Church of Christ the King, HMCS Naden. (Kandid Kamera Studio)

Tint of Blue Accents White Rosebuds In Bridal Bouquet of Mabel Schoor

A gown of white nylon net over taffeta was worn by Mabel Irene Grace Schoor when she exchanged marriage vows with Gary William Ernest Beckerley. The bodice of the gown was highlighted with miniature pearls and featured a rounded neckline and lily point sleeves. The fitted waist flared into a semi-full floor-length skirt. Two rows of self-fabric rosebuds gathered the back into a slight bustle at the waist. A nylon veil misted to her fingertips from a white rose headpiece. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, accented with blue tints. Parents of the principals are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schoor, 2515 Ludgate Street, and Mrs. R. Beckerley and Mr. J. Beckerley, both of Victoria. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Rev. S. J. Parsons officiated at the ceremony in Centennial United Church. Two large baskets of chrysanthemums and dahlias were at either side of the altar. Organist was Mrs. M. Wilmshurst. Maid of honor, Miss Patricia Giles, Duncan; bridesmaid, Miss Marlene Schoor, cousin of the bride, and junior bridesmaid, Miss Deborah Beckerley, niece of the groom, chose gowns of varying shades of blue. They complemented these with rhinestone headpieces, edged with blue nylon net. Best man was Ron Page, Alan Beckerley, brother of the groom, and Ernest Schoor, brother of the bride, ushered guests to their pews. St. Alban's church hall was decorated with pink and white wedding bells and streamers for the reception following the ceremony. A three-tier wedding cake

Saris Add Color To Dinner

Color was the keynote of the Victoria East Indian Women's Society banquet, held last Saturday in Union Centre. Bright saris of every color and description were worn by the women taking part. Posters of India decorated the hall and saris provided unusual murals for the walls. Autumn-toned chrysanthemums decorated the head table. Color was evident in another form during the dinner. Guests were served hot, spicy East Indian curried chicken and vegetables, cooled by a dessert of ice cream. Guest speaker Y. R. Dhawan, Vancouver, trade commissioner of India, spoke about the country's foreign trade. "Prosperity and industry are now a part of modern India," he said. He also outlined the changing role of women in Indian society.

COMMUNITY CENTRE

Guest of honor, Hon. R. G. Williston, minister of lands and forests, congratulated the society on its project, that of building a community centre for the East Indian people of Victoria. He said "the hall will bring friends and relatives together, assist your own people to integrate with others into the Canadian way of life and yet keep your own customs and culture."

Entertainment featured Indian dancing and music with a decidedly western "twist."

Conveners of the affair were Mrs. R. Sangha and Mrs. S. Sundher. Mrs. D. Doneley arranged the dinner.

Approximately $500 was raised and will be added to the community centre project fund.

MR. AND MRS. JUSZKO

Honeymoon in Florida Planned by Newlyweds

Following a honeymoon motoring trip to Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Sandor Laszlo Juszko will make their home at 1720 Hollywood Crescent.

Dr. Mortimore-Less officiated at the double wedding ceremony in Fairfield United Church that united Rosemary Alexandra Keays, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thomas Keays, 123 Olive Street, Victoria, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Juszko of Budapest, Hungary.

Arrangements of fall flowers decorated the church for the ceremony and pews were marked with ribbon bows and net.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white peau de soie. The sleeveless fitted bodice featured a lowered round neckline and the skirt was highlighted with soft pleats at waistline. She topped her gown with a lace jacket fashioned with high round neckline and long sleeves. A sheer white net veil misted from a headpiece of chiffon that was trimmed with sequins and rhinestones. Pink roses and chrysanthemums were in her cascade bouquet.

Streetlength gowns of deep blue peau de sole styled on similar lines to that of the bride were choice of matron of honor, Mrs. L. Skinner; bridesmaid, Miss Marlena Smith; and junior bridesmaid, Miss Alisa Landrum.

Self-fabric and lace floral headpieces and white accessories completed their ensembles. Robert McCallum was best man and ushers were Derek Foxwell and Ronald Marks.

Newstead Hall was decorated with white bells and pastel-toned streamers and artificial flowers for the reception that followed. Tables were centred with small vases of roses. W. F. Coleman proposed the toast to his step-granddaughter.

For travelling, the bride chose a dusty pink wool suit with pink hat and gloves, black patent accessories and corsage of white gardenias and pink carnations.

NEW GIMMICK IS PEACHY!

SUMMERLAND (CP)—

Here's a brand new twist in marketing of soft fruits.

Chilled, sliced ripe peaches, delivered perhaps in the morning with your cream, is envisioned for next summer as a new commercial peach product, at least in the Okanagan.

It is envisioned at the fruit and vegetable processing laboratory of the Canadian department of agriculture research station here, that with proper distribution, a worthwhile amount of peaches could be marketed this way from the beginning until the end of the season.

The search for new fruit product outlets is continuous at the processing laboratory at Summerland.

Head-Hugging Hats Oust High Silhouette

PARIS (Reuters) — Small hats and close-fitting hair styles are the most dramatic new feature of Paris winter fashions.

Neat, head-hugging millinery abolishes all height and volume at the top of the silhouette. The effect of the small head emerges as an integral part of the new look.

Kerchief and scarf hats are the dominant new trend, interpreted by every leading fashion house and specialized milliner in an individual manner. Kerchief hats have a casual do-it-yourself effect, though actually they demand skilful cutting and draping to avoid a bulky appearance.

Hubert de Givenchy featured kerchief hats throughout his entire collection, worked in everything from tie silk and wool jersey to mink. Fabric models were draped like a Martinique turban. Many were made of Givenchy's own printed silk scarves.

Paulette draped scarf hats as deftly as her traditional turbans. She likewise endorsed a symmetry with ends trailing down and across one shoulder.

Helmets and little caps that fit as snugly as a bathing cap shared top honors with scarf hats. They were most becoming in such flat-haired furs as mink or beaver, and generally hid every strand of the wearer's own hair, except the bangs.

Pierre Balmain showed snug beanies draped around the hairline. They were made of wool jersey to match the suit, blouse or dress, and had an optional muffler which passed through a slit at the nape of the neck and swathed the throat.

Lanvin featured supple skull caps and beanies ringed round the face with fur. All these hats, like the new dress silhouettes, were made without buckram or stiffening, and could be folded into a handbag or suitcase for travelling.

Now! False Teeth Fit Beautifully!

Amazing dental discovery, Cushion Grip® — ends sore spots — refits loose dentures to hold snug as a dentist's mold! Tasteless! Nothing to mix! One application lasts months!

After years of research, modern science has developed a remarkable new way to make false teeth fit beautifully — stop looseness, slipping, clicking, relieve sore spots — with our messy, old-fashioned pastes, powders and pads! It's CUSHION GRIP — amazing new soft, pliable plastic that holds false teeth snug as a dentist's mold, through soothing suction — makes loose dentures fit properly again. Result is, you can talk, laugh, eat anything without discomfort or embarrassment. CUSHION GRIP is easy to use — nothing to mix or measure! Simply squeeze out of tube onto dentures, then insert false teeth into mouth and bite down. Instantly, CUSHION GRIP molds to contours of mouth and gums — provides beautiful fit — holds dentures firmly in place with suction. Looseness, slipping, clicking disappear. Sore spots are quickly relieved. One application lasts for months, despite nightly cleaning, yet CUSHION GRIP is easily removed when desired. What's more, CUSHION GRIP actually refits, relines worn dentures. Save 73¢... For generous trial offer send 25¢, your name and address to PHARMACO 3535 Metropolitan Blvd., Pointe Claire, P.Q.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Why Pass Through Life And Not Really Enjoy It?

How can we afford to neglect our health when it gives us such a big assist toward happiness? Fine physical condition can make the difference between energy and chronic fatigue, between laughter and tears, between courage and fear, between optimism and pessimism, between accomplishment and failure, between vibrant living and boredom.

Many folks go through life never knowing what it feels like to feel wonderful! They drag themselves about each day, taking their lack of energy for granted. They have never experienced that zinging, everything-working-right feeling which bubbles up from inside and overflows in laughter, zest for life and varied interests.

Some wonderful people feel this way even though they have physical problems they cannot avoid. However, most of those who pass through life at half-mast have no serious disorders. They are paying the price for neglect of nature's laws.

For many the remedy would be so simple! Perhaps they have habitually short-changed themselves on sleep. Maybe they eat incorrectly and hurriedly. They may not have any regular exercise or any moments of relaxation each day.

Perhaps the modern-day habit of hurry is the greatest factor of all in creating that chronic weary feeling. This can cause real exhaustion. We should try to simplify life as much as possible, and even when we have a full tight schedule we should try not to FEEL hurried.

This is a trick I have had to learn and hope to use even more efficiently in the future. You won't get there any faster or sooner because you are all tensed up, and it's useless and therefore silly to hurry while sitting down.

What are the leaks in your store of energy? Why not recognize them and discard them? Lack of illness is not health! Real health is much more positive than that! Why not shoot for it?

If you would like to have my leaflet "Pep" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

IN SUMMERLAND UNITED CHURCH

Chooses Red, White and Blue Wedding Theme

Summerland United Church was decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums and red carnations with large blue bows when Rev. Philip Louie heard marriage vows exchanged between Betty Ann Clark and David Bruce Binny.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Howard L. Clark of Summerland, B.C., and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Binny, 3380 Veteran Road, Victoria. Mr. Clark gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore a floor-length sheath-style gown of silk peau d'ange that featured a portrait neckline and lily point sleeves. The empire waistline was enhanced with embossed rose applique and a detachable train extended from the back waistline. Her rolled illusion veil misted from a coronet of organza rosettes, centred with stephanotis. Only jewelry was a culture pearl necklace, gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of Baccara roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Matron of honor, Mrs. C. Khalembach, the bride's cousin, and bridesmaids, the Misses Carolyn Parkinson, Donna Gorrigan, and Audrey Clark, her sister, wore identical gowns of royal blue peau de soie. Their headpieces were blue flowers trimmed with net. White and red carnations formed their bouquets.

Terry Hood was best man and guests were ushered to their pews by Lynn Meyer, Gary Zamzow and Neil Menard.

Blue and white streamers, white bells and flowers in the shape of a ship decorated Summerland IOOF hall for the reception. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake flanked by white candles and bouquets of red roses and white chrysanthemums. The toast was proposed by Joe Khalembach.

After a honeymoon trip to Spokane, the couple will make their home in Victoria.

The bride's going-away outfit was a two-piece wool suit of cranberry red with black accessories and corsage of stephanotis, centred with pink rosebuds.

A number of guests attended the wedding from various up-Island and mainland points.

Hide What You Weigh By Sewing Right Way

The following information is in answer to many of you who have written me concerning flattering styles for overweights.

If you haven't taken off those extra pounds in time for your fall clothes, you must do more than "think thin." Here are a few basic rules to remember when selecting your pattern and fabric that will visually slim you, down.

Accentuate vertical lines. Coats should be 3/4 or full length; avoid contrasting short coats. Walking suits will give you a long line if skirt is narrow. Contrasting braid trim may be used down the front of jackets and coats. Avoid bringing braid around lower edge of suits and hems of sleeves. The length of the sleeves should not be the same as the length of the jacket.

Avoid a two-toned effect at the waistline. Dresses are more flattering with suit jackets than skirts. If you prefer skirts, choose blouses in crepe or jersey of a matching color, preferably an overblouse. Suits and coats should always be single breasted.

Use narrow, self-fabric covered belts for dresses. Keep detail or trim near the neckline, never on the skirt. Slim-line skirts with a slight A-line are best for you. Avoid pleated or gathered skirts.

Lastly, wear plain colors, small checks and tweeds. Avoid thick bulky fabrics, large prints and plaids and shiny fabrics.

A REPORT TO THE FRIENDS of the ROYAL JUBILEE HOSPITAL

The Board of Directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital wishes to categorically state that any closure of beds at the Hospital does not result from a lack of operating funds from the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service.

A serious shortage of Registered Nurses, and other staff, has been, and still is, the basic cause of the hospital's inability to promptly cope with the heavy medical and surgical work load. Every effort has been made to attract qualified nurses to our hospital from across Canada and the United Kingdom, offering attractive salaries and working conditions. Even with the shortage of staff, the Royal Jubilee Hospital has completed the heaviest work load in its history as evidenced by the following statistics as taken from the records of the hospital.

In the past two years—with the opening of the New Wings—there has been an increase in the number of patient days handled of... 17%

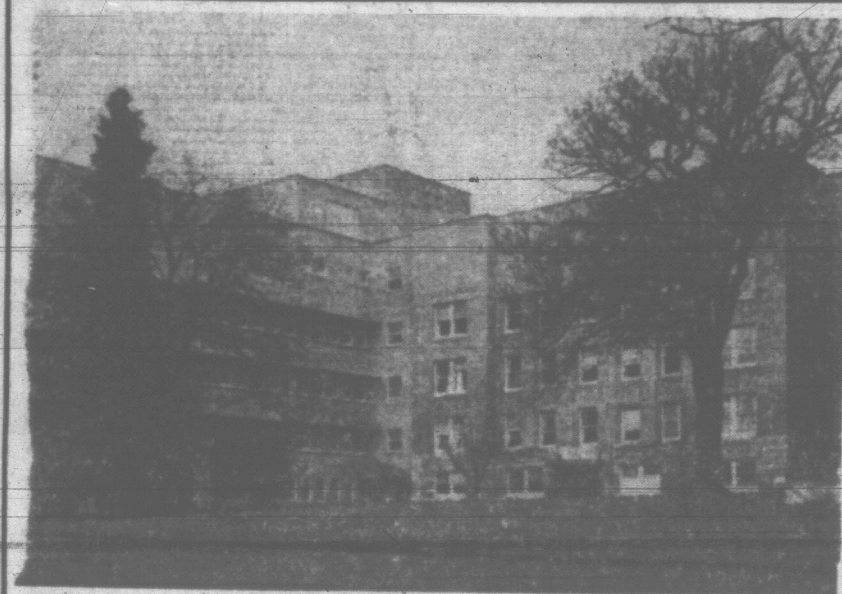

VOLUME OF WORK Period of January 1st to August 31st

Year	Patient Days	Patients Admitted	Surgical Operations	X-ray Examinations	Laboratory Examinations
1962	106,508	9,480	4,419	14,315	190,587
1963	111,192	10,052	4,765	16,461	210,165
1964	124,547	10,667	5,316	20,080	238,085

The hospital has plans for the future development of facilities, including substantial additions to meet the growing needs of the community and the demands of modern medicine.

It is the policy of the Board of Directors of the Royal Jubilee Hospital to open additional beds as soon as staff becomes available.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Dan O'Herlihy's precisely the kind of Irishman you don't expect to meet when you're going to interview one who's had tremendous movie and TV success and is entitled to get roaring drunk and do some boisterous bragging.

He was quietly drinking tea when we got together, he spun no Irish yarns, and when we discussed his great role of Air Force chief in "Fail Safe," Dan O'Herlihy said:

"Henry Fonda is the finest actor I've ever worked with. Even talking about him makes me jealous. He can do anything and everything.

"When he did the 'hot line' scene from the White House, everybody was too stunned to applaud. I asked him how he did it. He smiled and said, 'It came out almost as good as I wanted it to'.

"Almost! It was fantastic!" O'Herlihy is top-billed in the picture which would have made it proper for him to say something about his own performance.

"It's the first picture I've starred in that is going to make a mint," is the closest he would come to it.

O'Herlihy, father of five—Oliver, Gavan, Cormac, Lorcan and Patricia—and a product of Dunlough, Ireland, who gave up architecture to act, will drink, but not a lot.

CONNECTION
"And I've never seen a leprechaun," he said. "I think there's a connection between those statements... If the Irish drank less, they would see fewer leprechauns."

He comes from a resolute Irish family. His mother came to the U.S. recently to live with Dan and his wife in Hollywood.

An airlines stewardess asked his mother if she wanted to see a movie.

"No, I am saving my eyes for my Dan's films," she said.

A few years ago, his brother Mike asked Dan for fare to come to America.

"Find your own way over like I did," Dan said.

Mike got a 28-foot sailboat and made his way to the U.S. by way of Azores, sold the boat, went to Hollywood and became a big Hollywood director.

"WASN'T ME?" Dan, who made a potful from doing the TV series, "The Travels of Jaimie McPheeters," recently turned down the third largest role in James B. Harris' "The Bedford Incident," which would have meant co-starring with Sidney Poitier and Richard Widmark.

"It's one of the best scripts I've ever read but the part didn't strike me as being me," Dan said.

"But there's a much smaller role, that of a German U-boat commander, which appeals to me more... and you should hear my German accent! I wish you'd ask Mr. Harris to offer this Irishman that smaller role!"

THE WEEKEND WINDUP
Louis Armstrong's "So Long, Dearie" record is in its third pressing. Mark Broiles is here from Hong Kong to arrange the import of fortune cookies—they've reportedly never had 'em before... The Blue Fox restaurant in San Francisco is installing a guest book—to be signed by the male guests it conducts on a tour of its ultra-plush ladies' room.

Katy Jurado was called "Mrs. Borgnine" by a fan at the Braserie. "I'm no longer Mrs. Borgnine," she explained.

"That was one wife ago..." Sloan Simpson is writing her memoirs... Dan Durys, who plays a villain in his "Bounty Killer" film, gets knocked off by the hero—Dan's son Peter.

Vincent Price, making his ninth Edgar Allan Poe film, may also have a TV series based on Poe tales... Glenn Ford's son Peter will make an album for Capitol Records... Buddy Greco's recording contract states the only girl whose photo can be used on the album cover is his wife, Dani Crayne...

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Eugenia De Coursey, age 10, of Estill, Ky., for her question:

What Causes Cold Fronts?

The coming winter weather will bring us a number of blustery cold fronts. They will sweep in wide paths from the west or northwest toward the east or southeast. A few may reach as far south as Florida and bring unusually nippy weather to this warm region. As a rule, cold fronts soon leave us—which suits us fine, for we are glad to see the end of the stormy and unsettled weather they usually bring.

The world's weather is caused by the sun and the air and the shape of our spinning globe. The sun beams down on half of the round globe while the other half is spinning around through the shadow of night. The radiation pierces through the air and warms the surface of the land and sea. The land and water give some of the sun's warmth to the air that touches them.

Sometimes in certain places the sunbeams stream straight down from directly overhead. There are stormy battles. The cold front is likely to shower us with rain and wind. In winter, a blustery cold front usually is followed by a spell of frosty weather. This is caused by the mass of polar air behind the advancing cold front.

The air chills above the Arctic even in summer. But these cool air masses are less cold and less strong than those that form in winter. They may advance south and clash with the west winds, but now the westwinds are stronger. In summer the weather battles often end in victory for the warm air masses. Though cold fronts attack in both summer and winter, we notice them less in summer when the weather is less stormy and the mass of warm air wins the battle against the cool polar air.

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book Globe to Jon Starr, age six, of Lansing, Mich., for his question:

How high can you jump on the moon?

First let's find out how high you can jump upon the earth. Let's say you can jump two feet above the ground. If you can do this, on the moon you can jump up 12 feet. If you can leap over a fence three feet high on the earth, on the moon you can leap over a fence that is 18 feet high—which is as high as three tall men.

Jumping on the moon is six times easier than it is upon the earth. So is walking and running. On the earth you weigh six times more than you would on the moon. If a six-pound bag of candy were taken from the earth to the moon, it would weigh only one pound. On the moon you can leap six times higher and lift weights six times heavier than you can on the earth.

LUM TO SEEK RECOUNT AFTER CURTIS VICTORY

Ed Lum told the Times at noon today he planned to apply this afternoon for a recount in Saturday's Saanich byelection.

Mr. Lum, who apparently won, then lost by 122 votes, his bid to become reeve, said he wants the recount "just to satisfy everybody."

Former councillor Hugh Curtis was declared winner after a ballot count mixup late Saturday night. See story on Page 21.

By DESMOND BILL

Youngsters playing with firecrackers are being blamed for a $100,000 fire in the city Sunday afternoon. The blaze destroyed the grandstand in Royal Athletic Park in less than an hour.

If youngsters didn't cause the blaze then it must have been deliberately set, according to fire department officials.

The fire started in the bleachers to the west of the old wooden grandstand. Underground passages running beneath the grandstand from the west to east bleachers acted like a wind tunnel carrying the fire.

U.S. MOVES N-BOMBERS NEARER CHINA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has posted a squadron of 15 B-52 heavy jet nuclear bombers on the island of Guam—within about 1,000 miles of Red China, it was learned today.

The unpublicized move, made last spring, places the 15 B-52s about 5,000 miles closer to China than when they were based in the United States.

The squadron sent to Guam replaces a unit of older medium jet B-47 bombers. B-52s have at least twice the striking range and carry much more of an atomic wallop than the B-47s. The B-52s also fly faster and higher.

PROBE AGREED

CNR Postpones Cut-Back Plan

OTTAWA (CP) — The CNR has agreed to a federal cabinet proposal to put off its controversial run-through program at Nakina, Ont., and Wainwright, Alta., it was announced today.

Prime Minister Pearson said in a statement the federal government will appoint a special commissioner to study the CNR's run-through proposal. A report would be made within three months, either freeing the publicly-owned railway to go ahead with its plan immediately or establishing a period of time for gradual implementation.

Mr. Pearson said CNR President Donald Gordon has agreed to withdraw the run-through proposal and withhold action on it until the examination of it by the commissioner.

The run-throughs involve putting trains through divisional points without the crew changes that formerly occurred there. It means longer runs for the train crews and transfer of some employees to other centres.

The CNR began its run-throughs Saturday night at Nakina and Wainwright. The move prompted protest action by CNR employees who booked off sick, thus hampering freight and passenger operations.

A railway spokesman in Winnipeg said it was hoped that normal passenger service would be resumed as soon as possible.

B.C. Forest Industry Gets Blow

By FRANK MUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

B.C.'s export trade will be seriously hurt by a new 15 per cent British surcharge, Trade Minister Ralph Lofmark said today.

"This is a sad day for us," he said.

"The B.C. economy is going to suffer because our largest exports have been in the fields in which controls are being imposed."

Hardest hit will be the forest industry.

B.C. last year sold $147 million worth of goods to Britain—most of them forest products.

In return B.C. bought only $47 million worth of British produce.

SLIPPED NOTCH

Britain has already slipped from B.C.'s number two customer to number three, he added.

"This decline is going to accelerate," he predicted.

Mr. Lofmark said B.C. faces increasing tariffs everywhere, and it will be increasingly hard to find overseas markets.

"The answer is for Canada, the U.S. and Britain to get together and make a new effort to bring down tariffs and increase mutual trade," he said.

"The protective greenhouse wall of tariffs produces an artificially weak plant."

Last year B.C. sold $41.8 million worth of lumber to Britain.

It sold $20 million worth of pulp products and $23 million worth of aluminum—all things which will be affected by the new British Labor government's surcharge.

15% Surcharge Put Into Effect

LONDON (CP) — Britain's new socialist government, trying to head off a currency exchange crisis, today imposed an extra 15-per-cent duty on all imports with the exception of food, basic raw materials and unmanufactured tobacco.

At the same time it opened negotiations to make a huge draw of credit from the International Monetary Fund and announced plans to provide exporters with a small tax rebate — averaging about 1½ per cent of the value of exports — to stimulate more sales abroad.

Canadian officials estimated the 15-per-cent extra duty will hit about $350,000,000 worth of Canadian exports a year. Canadian shipments total about $1,000,000,000 annually.

REACHES ALL-TIME HIGH

They estimated that Britain's deficit in international payments — the balance between money coming into the country and the amount going out — would reach an all-time high of up to $800,000,000 this year. This deficit forecast is more than double what the previous administration had estimated.

Conservative Reginald Maudling, former chancellor of the exchequer, maintained that the estimated 1964 payments deficit includes "an element of exaggeration."

He told a press conference the forecast deficit, which would range to the equivalent of about $2,400,000,000 did not make allowance for important balancing items.

Apart from that, he seemed to be in general agreement with the principle of temporary restrictions, though he said he would have waited another month or two before reaching a decision to impose the curbs.

In fact, he added, he as chancellor made arrangements for imposing the curbs while the Conservatives were in power. He suggested the curbs should be removed as quickly as possible and not remain more than a year or two.

Economics Minister George Brown and Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan, who announced the new steps at a press conference, described the measures as short-term and temporary but declined to say just how many years they would last.

It meant that Britain once again was in deep economic trouble, buying more than she is selling and lacking ability to attract substantial long-term investment in this country.

"All this calls for immediate but strictly temporary action, drastic at first but less so as both the immediate measures and the longer-term policies

Huge Mill Scheduled For Island

A $60-million pulp mill will be built at Gold River on Vancouver Island's west coast, Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced today.

Work will start Feb. 1 and the mill will be in operation within two years.

The mill will be built as a joint venture by the Canadian International Paper Co. of Montreal—largest in Canada—and East Asiatic Co. of Vancouver.

It will be in the name of Tishis Co., at present a subsidiary of East Asiatic, with large timber holdings on the island.

COMMERCIAL CENTRE

The project will make Gold River the commercial centre of the west coast, Mr. Bennett said.

The mill will have an initial capacity of 750 tons of pulp per day.

Eventually it will be expanded for "diversified products," Mr. Bennett said.

It will employ up to 500 people with an additional 300 loggers in the woods.

They will live in what the premier called "a new model town" at Gold River.

It will be planned jointly by the company and municipal affairs department.

But it will not be a "company town," Mr. Bennett said. It will be open for general public development—a tremendous boost to the west coast's economy.

The project will also mean construction of a power transmission line from Campbell River to the mill site.

Gold River is 38 miles west of Courtenay, at the head of Metchikan Inlet off historic Nootka Sound. It is connected to Campbell River by highway, part of which was built by the East Asiatic Company as a logging road at a cost of $2,000,000 for an eight-mile stretch.

HIGHWAY HINTED

The premier said the government will "take steps to see to a highway" — now a private road running east-west across the island.

Stonemason Perches on Bridge In New Compensation Protest

Sept. 16 and Oct. 8 when he sat on the steps of the legislative buildings in Victoria for several days on two separate occasions. He refused to take food until Mr. Bonner gave him a promise an inquiry would be held into the Compensation Act.

INJURED BACK

Larsen, who said he suffered a back injury while working four years ago but has been unable to obtain compensation, said he wants a change in the law so that decisions of the workers' compensation board can be appealed in court.

He said he was not doing this entirely for himself. He said hundreds of other workmen found themselves in similar predicaments.

Larsen said at least two persons who were unable to obtain compensation from the board killed themselves out of despair.

When Larsen climbed to the bridge tower about 5:30 a.m. today, he left a note on the seat of his parked truck saying he would not come down until Mr. Bonner set up a tribunal to consider cases such as his.

Contacted by reporters, the Attorney General repeated earlier statements that the royal commission inquiry still was under way but he said the possibility of setting up a tribunal would be "looked into."

Larsen then agreed to climb down.

FLAG COMMITTEE CHOSSES DARK HORSE DESIGN

Red Borders, One Leaf Gets Nod

By JOYCE FAIRBARIN
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A dark horse design of one red maple leaf on white with vertical red borders appears to have won a majority agreement in the 15-member parliamentary flag committee, an informed source said Sunday.

The source said the decision was taken in a vote last Thursday which gave the red and white design the edge by a 10-to-4 margin over two others which had been culled from thousands in the past few weeks.

The voting lineup was said to be six Liberals, one Conservative and the three minority party representatives favoring the single leaf with the remaining Conservatives opposed. The seventh Liberal, committee chairman Herman Batten, traditionally would be asked to vote only in the event of a tie.

The source said the government flag with its three red maple leaves and blue borders and another design containing a maple leaf, Union Jack and Fleur de Lis were eliminated in an initial vote which gave the single leaf unanimous committee support.

However, four Tories then backed away from the decision to formally recommend the design as Canada's distinctive national flag, the source said. It is understood that the committee is scheduled to meet again before bringing down its report to the Commons Thursday.

Although the single leaf design may be the one recommended as Canada's flag, future meetings could leave the door open for continued negotiations and possibly greater unanimity.

There was no indication whether some change might be recommended to the government's resolution calling for the Union Jack to be flown for the Crown and Commonwealth.

Telephone calls to some committee members at the weekend were met by a wall of silence. They refused to confirm or deny that a decision had been taken and one would not even say whether the committee was planning to meet again.

From th' reaction t' Britain's new trade policy, y'd think it wuz theft, not thrift.

Tain't th' fust time th' stands went wild at th' Athletic Park.

Johnson Mobbed in Florida

Big Crowds Cheer Lyndon

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—President Johnson received an enthusiastic and sometimes unruly welcome in Florida Sunday—an area in which there is reported to be considerable support for Barry Goldwater.

He was virtually mobbed in Miami and later in Orlando.

There was such confusion and pushing and shoving in the Dupont Plaza Hotel in Miami that a state policeman, without knowing whom he was pushing, gave the president a vigorous shove.

Some reporters and spectators got roughed up by police.

Large crowds were on hand at the McCoy air force base civilian airport when Johnson arrived at Orlando Sunday night. Despite rain, he spent about 15 minutes shaking hands at the field.

Another big crowd cheered and waved and pushed as Johnson reached his hotel in Orlando, where he spent the night.

After another long session of hand shaking, Johnson climbed atop a police car and made a short speech over a megaphone.

He said he had had "a delightful afternoon in Florida," and "every face I have seen is a happy face. I haven't seen a sorrowful all day."

Extremism Is Violence, Says Adlai

NEW YORK (AP)—Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson depicted "extremism in America" Sunday night as "lies, distortions, abuse, threats, violence."

"All these things," he told the American Jewish Congress, "spring from the dark side of the human psyche, where fear and lust for power unleash on human society horrors which can end in the concentration camp and the gas chamber."

He did not mention Senator Barry Goldwater, who said when accepting the Republican presidential nomination last July that extremism in the defence of liberty was no vice.

Stevenson, chief U.S. delegate to United Nations, said Americans' reputation abroad could be "scarred and weakened" if the campaign between Goldwater and President Johnson was conducted "in an empty, unseemly, dishonest fashion."

GOP AGENCY WITHDRAWS RACE AD

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The Texas campaign headquarters for President Johnson said Friday a Dallas firm handling advertising for Senator Barry Goldwater has recalled a newspaper ad aimed at "Lyndon Johnson's civil rights bill."

The Johnson-Humphrey headquarters furnished reporters with what it said were copies of the ad, headed "LBJ's Civil Rights Bill and You." The ad contained a photo of a happy Negro youth with the word "hired" across the photo and a sullen white youth's photo with the word "fired" across it.

In Dallas, the Rominger agency said the ad had been sent by mistake.

DEMOCRAT LEAD UP IN SCANDAL WAKE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Harris poll reports a net gain for President Johnson in a special survey last week, after the resignation of Walter Jenkins, the removal of Soviet Premier Khrushchev and the Chinese nuclear test explosion.

The poll by Louis Harris, copyright of the Washington Post Company, shows Johnson leading Senator Barry Goldwater by 69 to 34 per cent with six per cent undecided. Before last week's developments, Johnson showed a 58-34 edge with eight per cent undecided.

Jenkins is the top White House aide whose resignation Johnson requested after disclosure that Jenkins was arrested in 1958 and again this month on morals charges.

Popcorn Poll Pops With LBJ Brand

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—President Johnson has popped into a commanding lead in what may well be the most unscientific political prognosis since Aunt Agatha called the shot on Cal Coolidge on the basis of an aching corn.

The presidential popcorn poll shows Johnson ahead of Barry Goldwater in 43 states, with 78 per cent of the popular vote. It has Goldwater ahead in Arizona, Louisiana, Mississippi, Maryland and Utah, with Oregon and Wisconsin even.

Don't laugh. It may sound corny, but the theatre-going munchers and fireside poppers haven't missed yet.

Pollster Jim Blevins, who claims to be the world's leading popcorn vendor, started it all in 1948 but was almost forced to abandon the poll before the second feature began. His idea was to decorate his popcorn bags with the Democratic donkey and Republican elephant and decide who would win the

'Filth, Fear, Smear' Scored by Parties

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the United States presidential election campaign coming down to the wire, both Democratic and Republican party members Saturday unleashed verbal attacks on each other's campaign tactics.

Democratic national chairman John M. Bailey appealed directly to Senator Barry Goldwater to end what Bailey called the flow of "venom and filth" into the election campaign.

Bailey urged the Republican presidential candidate, in a letter to "restore some dignity to the campaign, stop belittling America, and stop running down our great nation."

Meanwhile, Republican national chairman Dean Burch filed a formal complaint charging that the Democrats are waging "a campaign of fear, smear, cover up, news suppression and arm twisting."

Ad Forcasts Johnson's Death in '65

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—An advertisement for Barry Goldwater paid for by Texas Republicans states that medical odds are that President Johnson would die in office if elected in 1964, elevating vice-presidential nominee Hubert Humphrey to president.

The ad was run Friday in the Houston Chronicle and drew criticism from a noted heart surgeon as irresponsible use of medical statistics.

The ad states that medical statistics show the average life expectancy of a man of President Johnson's age, and who suffered a heart attack such as Johnson's 1953 one, is less than 10 years.

A world famous heart surgeon, Dr. Michael E. DeBakey, said in a Chronicle story the ad was an "irresponsible use of medical statistics."

Dr. DeBakey is chairman of Baylor University's department of surgery within the College of Medicine.

No Surprises Says Barry

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater entered the final week of his drive for the White House today, with "no surprises" in his campaign bag but convinced he has a chance to defeat President Johnson.

The Republican presidential nominee was scheduled to speak today in Salisbury, Md., and Dover, Del., before addressing a traditional Madison Square Garden rally in New York tonight.

"I have no surprises," Goldwater told newsmen Sunday after flying back from West Branch, Iowa, where he attended funeral services for former president Herbert Hoover.

Goldwater said he expected to continue speaking on the issues that have been the core of his campaign to date. He said he did not plan to make a campaign issue of the case of Walter W. Jenkins, White House aide who resigned after his arrest on morals charges was disclosed.

Pope Criticizes Casino Bombing

MONTE CASSINO, Italy (AP)—Pope Paul VI consecrated the Roman Catholic Church in the rebuilt monastery of Monte Casino Saturday and bitterly criticized those who bombed the abbey into ruin in the Second World War.

The monastery, where St. Benedict founded western monasticism in 529, was shattered by bombers of the Allies on Feb. 15, 1944. The Allies insisted German troops were using it as a strongpoint to block the road to Rome.

Throat Tumor Forces Ikeda to Sidelines

TOKYO (AP)—Three leading contenders were in the field today to succeed Premier Hayato Ikeda.

Ikeda, 64, suffering from a throat tumor, said Sunday he would step down as president of the ruling Liberal-Democratic party. Doctors said the tumor could become cancerous and Ikeda needed further hospital care and rest.

Ikeda's successor as party chief automatically will become premier since the party controls the Diet (Parliament).

Chief contenders are State Minister Ichiro Kono; Eisaku Sato, brother of former prime minister Nobusuke Kishi, and former foreign minister Aichihiro Fujiyama.

Kono has been a supporter of Ikeda while Sato and Fujiyama joined forces in an unsuccessful attempt to unseat him last summer.

Kono, an aggressive politician, helped Ikeda win his third two-year term and is reported to be favored by the retiring leader.

Ikeda, premier for four years, is considered largely responsible for Japan's stable government and recent boom. He set as his goal doubling the nation's economy in 10 years.

Wins Gold Badge

ERRINGTON—Junior warden Rodney Fraser of Errington has been awarded the gold tree degree badge, the highest proficiency award in the junior forest warden organization.

A member of the Lone Patrol system, Rodney studied by correspondence and conducted field trips and activities on his own to complete a three-year conservation program sponsored by the Canadian Forestry Association.

Suslov's Absence Caused by Illness

MOSCOW (AP)—Mikhail A. Suslov, the man credited with toppling Nikita Khrushchev, was reported felled by kidney trouble and tuberculosis Sunday.

Unconfirmed rumors had circulated here that he had gone to Peking in an attempt to patch up the Kremlin's bitter dispute with China.

Sunday night's reports, which gave a different explanation for his noticeable absence from recent public functions, suggested that Suslov, 62, might be forced to drop out of active participation in the Soviet leadership.

Since the dramatic Oct. 14 meeting of the Communist party central committee, at which Suslov presented the indictment of Khrushchev, the top theorist of the party had been regarded as the real source of power.

Informed sources said he declined the key post of party secretary, then given to Brezhnev, because of ill health.

Don't Just Save, Invest

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—Montreal Stock Exchange president George Hees suggested today that Canadians sink at least half of the $1 billion they now put in savings accounts and bonds into industrial development stocks.

He said such a move would give the investors "a nest egg for the future" while helping the country to expand its economy and Canadian control over it.

Hees, a former Conservative cabinet minister, told a Canadian Club luncheon that, while money put into savings accounts or Canada savings bonds was "certainly safe, it increases very little in real value."

"On the other hand, investing in the development of your country not only provides jobs for fellow Canadians and hence puts money in their pockets with which to buy your products, but is also by far the best method of building up a nest egg for the future," he said.

Hees said the Montreal Stock Exchange, to prove this point, had surveyed the net value of $100 invested between 1960 and 1964 in a savings account, Canada Savings Bonds and representative industrial stocks. Taking into account inflation during that period, the savings account investment today was worth $109.97, the savings bond money $114.42, and the industrial stocks $210.40, he said.

Hees said the $1 billion a year now tied up in savings accounts and bonds was one of two large sources of investment funds which should be channelled more into industrial development.

The other, he said, was the $10.5 billion held by Canadian life insurance companies.

These companies now have only $423 million, or 4 per cent of their holdings, invested in industry, Hees said. If they took full advantage of the law permitting 25 per cent investment in such securities, they could increase that figure to $2.2 billion, he said.

Creston Publisher Wins Award

MacMillan, Blodell & Powell River Limited's second annual $500 award in journalism for B.C. weekly and semi-weekly newspapers has been awarded to Herbert K. Legg, publisher of Creston Review.

Presentation was made Friday night by Peter M. Downes, general manager of corporate communications of MB&P, at the 46th annual convention of B.C. Weekly Newspapers' Association in Vancouver.

Mr. Legg received the award for a series of articles and editorials on land use in the Creston area which involved civil and local rights.

Mr. Downes also announced that beginning this year an annual second-prize award of $250 would be made, in conjunction with the $500 award, and the first winner of this award was Les Peterson, a contributor to the Coast News, Gibsons.

Mr. Peterson's entry was a series of articles titled "The Story of the Sechelt Nation."

Lloyd Phillips, news editor of the Fernie Free Press, received honorable mention and received a $100 award, for two articles on the lumber industry in the Fernie area.

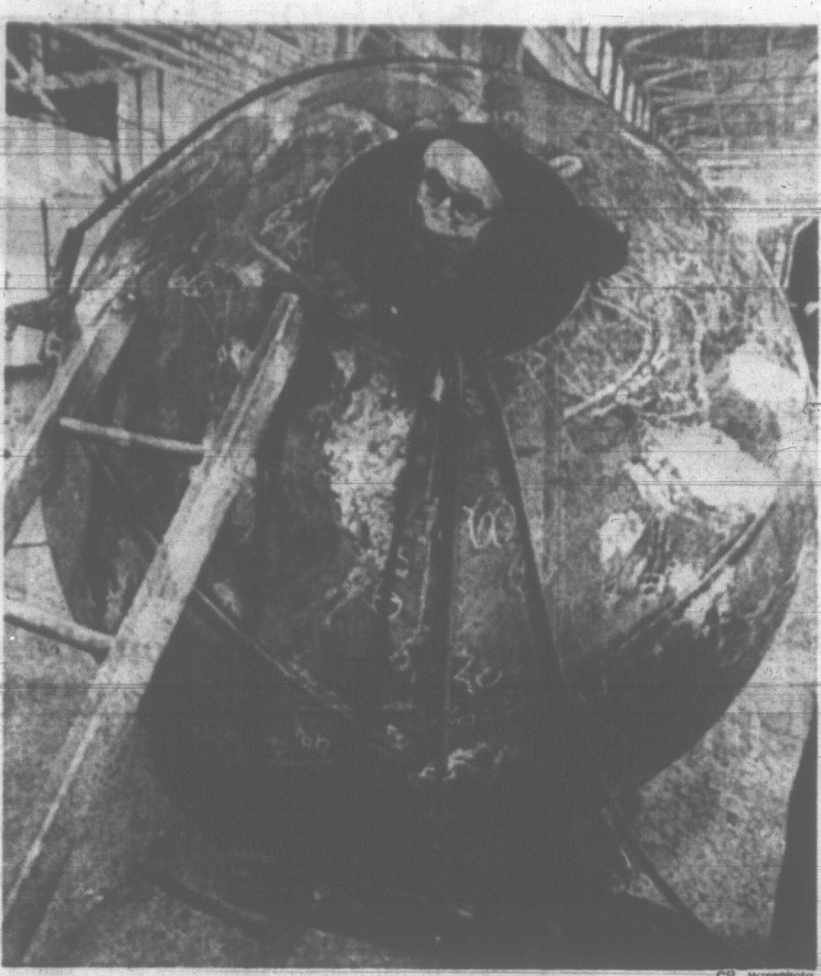

The judges in this year's competition were Dr. Harry L. Purdy, lecturer in commerce at University of B.C., and Edward Benson, general manager of Pacific Press Ltd., and president of Vancouver Board of Trade.

The winner of the first MB&P weekly award, in 1963, was Peter Mossey, then of the Powell River News.

The forest products company also makes an annual $500 award in journalism for B.C. daily newspapers and this award is scheduled to be presented on Friday, Nov. 6, at the annual "Awards Night" of the Newsmen's Club of B.C. in the Georgia Hotel, Vancouver.

Mr. Crump said orders are being placed for the construction of two 65,000-ton tankers with Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Limited of Japan, with delivery scheduled for late 1966.

The Bermuda subsidiary will also charter vessels.

SELF-PROPELLED diving machine designed to operate in water up to 3,000 feet off the coast of B.C. takes shape at Vancouver. Costing $60,000 the bell will consist of two iron spheres each eight feet in diameter and connected by a crawl tube. It will be manned by crew of two. Welder Fred Schmidt is seen working inside one end of dual spheres.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Mercury Deposits Search To Boost B.C. Mine Boom

By GORDON BELL
Times Business Editor

Copper, lead, zinc, gold, silver, iron and molybdenum are the current stars of B.C.'s mining boom but watch for another addition to the list of minerals likely to be sought in this province and heavily in demand.

Thomas Elliott, manager of the B.C. and Yukon Chamber of Mines, in an industry review presented this week, predicts that an intensive search for new mercury deposits and a re-appraisal of known mercury-bearing areas is about to begin.

Price of mercury has more than doubled in the past year and it is right near the top of the metals-in-short-supply list. Mr. Elliott said he expected new activity in such areas as the Finlay Lake belt northwest of Prince George, one of the province's top mercury areas, as well as in other parts of the province, on Vancouver Island, in the Bridge River area and near Kamloops.

Acquisition by Canadawide Investments Ltd. of Toronto of a controlling interest in Moneta Porcupine Mines Ltd., which was announced this week, moves Toronto financier Paul O. Benitz deeper into the B.C. and Yukon mining play.

Canadawide, through its 53 per cent interest in Charter Oil Co. Ltd., already controls Poco Silver Mines Ltd. Moneta has an interest of 28.3 per cent in Silmonac Mines Ltd., which is developing gold-silver-lead-zinc properties in the Stikine area as well as an interest in a new copper find in Alaska shared with Sunshine Mines, Tennessee Corp. and Dome Mines.

Of considerable interest is the fact that Moneta since it closed down its mining operations has had its funds invested in short-term securities and cash to the amount of about $3.7 millions and is expected to use a large part of it in mining developments in the west.

First off, Moneta is joining with Poco on development of its silver holdings in the Carmacks district of the Yukon. Poco, of course, has been busy consolidating and wrapping up numerous other mining companies and operations.

This was the week when patient and long-suffering

Airport Materials Shipped from B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The major part of Caylon's new international airport will be shipped out of Vancouver next week in the Greek freighter Evangelistria.

Under the Colombo Plan for aid to underdeveloped countries, Canada is picking up most of the $5,500,000 tab for developing and financing the Katunayake airport.

The Greek freighter, under charter to the Canadian government, will load cement from Vancouver Island, trucks originating in Chatham, Ont., cement trailer mixers from London, Ont., joint sealing compound from Montreal, air compressors from Woodstock, Ont., and 15 flat cars of heavy equipment hauled here from Winnipeg.

shareholders of Wingdam and Lightning Creek Mining Co. Ltd., of whom there were enough in Victoria to form a social club, had to digest the news that the $1.5 million which they had invested in development of a flooded-out gold mine near Barkerville was gone forever.

Wingdam shareholders were a hardy breed who thrived on the optimistic reports issued weekly for a couple of years by president R. A. Brossard forecasting that mining of the supposedly fabulously rich gold-bearing gravel was imminent.

Now the shaft, from which only the cement contractors made any money, is flooded again and has been abandoned. In a letter to shareholders, Mr. Brossard stated that "to reclaim the mine would require duplicating the effort already expended over the past few years, and there would be no guarantee that the same catastrophe would not occur again."

While Mr. Brossard stated that an effort would be made to find another property, or a participation with other companies, the fact is that Wingdam has liabilities of nearly $200,000. A debenture issue of $36,000 is outstanding against lost assets in the form of ore reserves and, while a good deal of equipment was salvaged, it was not all paid for.

Canadian Breweries Ltd. this week made another expansion move into the United States strengthening its strategic position there.

The move was made through subsidiary Carling Brewing Co. which bought the assets of Arizona Brewing of Phoenix, Arizona. The transaction, for an undisclosed amount of cash, gives Carling a company which last year was second in sales in Arizona with over 150,000 barrels and also markets in southern California, southern Nevada, Southern Utah and parts of Colorado and New Mexico.

It is Canadian Breweries ninth American acquisition through Carling and, along with the new plant at Fort Worth, Texas, places the company in a position to grow along with the fastest-growing population area in the country.

Canada Permanent Trust has produced a booklet on estate tax and gift tax which is believed to be unique in Canada and should be of considerable interest here.

The booklet gives a simple working analysis of the subject, shows the procedure for calculating tax on estates of deceased persons domiciled both within and outside Canada and includes rate tables on estate and gift taxes.

The booklet is available on request from the Victoria office of Canada Permanent at Fort and Douglas Streets.

FRIENDS OF HUNDREDS

Famed Sportsman, Cougar Hunter Dies

One of Vancouver Island's best known cougar hunters and outdoorsmen died suddenly Saturday.

Christopher (Chris) George Behnson, who shot more than 150 cougars during his lifetime, died at his Shawnigan Lake home at the age of 83 years.

Born at Oakland, Calif., his family moved to Victoria when he was a child. He was educated at Spring Ridge school.

He was the son of H. F. W. Behnson, owner of a cigar factory known as Big-B, and later an MLA with the McBride government.

Mr. Behnson took over the management of the cigar factory, then located on Tronche Alley, when his father entered politics in 1903. Later he operated a successful trucking business, but his heart was in outdoor life, and he gave this up to become a professional hunter.

He lived most of his life at Shawnigan Lake where he became the friend of hundreds of hunters and fishermen. There were few men who knew the interior of south Vancouver Island as well as he did.

In his later years, Mr. Behnson gave up hunting and turned naturalist.

At his Shawnigan Lake home, it was not uncommon to see him feeding deer, racoon and mink and even combing the fur of squirrels. He was fond of his animals and would not let anyone harm them.

Private funeral services will be held for Behnson at Chaplin's Funeral Chapel on Tuesday at 11 a.m. Cremation will follow.

His ashes will be scattered at Shawnigan Lake and around one of his favorite hunting cabins situated west of the lake.

He is survived by the widow, Selena; three sons, Henry, Ronald and Fred, all of Victoria, and one brother, Shaw Behnson of Merritt.

SAANICHTON PLAGUED BY CROWS

A plague of crows is reported in the Saanichton area.

"There were 300 on our farm this morning and, when we drove them away, each had a walnut in its mouth," said Mrs. Sig Johnson, 1830 Prosser.

"They're eating up all our apples and walnuts and, a while ago, they raided our strawberries and loganberries. Yet the law says we can't use firearms in the Saanichton area."

Mrs. Johnson said the crows have been active all summer and many neighboring farms have suffered.

"What are we supposed to do about it?" she asked.

A spokesman for the B.C. game department said the answer lies with Saanichton Police.

"If the police are satisfied the crows are a menace to crops, they will issue a permit for the use of firearms," he said.

A spokesman for Saanichton Fruit Growers' Association said the crows seemed "extra hot" on walnuts this year.

Curtis Wins Saanich Reeveship After Socko Finale Topples Lum

By LESLIE MILLIN

Hugh Austin Curtis was elected Saanich's youngest-ever reeve Saturday night in the municipality's strangest-ever by-election.

An unprecedented 300-vote error had left the crowd in the municipal hall convinced for an hour that Ed Lum won the reeveship by 178 votes.

But Mr. Curtis, 32, came out on top by 122 ballots after returning officer Gordon Hayward spent an hour in a locked room with both men, checking the contents of the Cloverdale polling station ballot box.

Mr. Lum's supporters had mobbed him with congratulations after all polling stations telephoned results into the municipal hall.

They thought he had won the post he so narrowly missed last December when he lost by 184 votes to Reeve Stanley Murphy.

Instead, the reeveship was snatched away from him at the last minute for the second time in 10 months.

He is asking for a recount.

'ISN'T OVER YET'

"As far as I'm concerned, this election isn't over yet," Mr. Lum told the Times this morning.

"The matter is in the hands of my lawyer. I'm definitely going for a recount."

The ulcer-grating mixup over the reeveship race overshadowed the race for a council job.

William Campbell won the seat, easily defeating five other candidates.

His nearest rival was Lt.-Col. Harry Shergold, who trailed him by about 1,400 votes.

Both Mr. Campbell and Mr. Curtis are serving remaining council terms, and will be up for re-election in 1965.

As far as Mr. Curtis is concerned, he has won the gamble he undertook when he resigned his council seat to seek the job vacated by Reeve Murphy, now teaching in Africa.

SWEARING-IN TONIGHT

He is making arrangements to be sworn in as reeve just before the council meeting a week from tonight.

"This week will be spent in a series of familiarization meetings with senior officials, starting with comptroller-treasurer John Tribe today," said Mr. Curtis, who is son of Victoria Alderman Austin Curtis.

He said he plans no immediate changes of a major nature but one.

"At the first council meeting I will appoint the three-man standing fire committee I promised during the campaign. It isn't being set up to investigate the fire chief appointment."

"It's being set up as a standing committee, an impartial one, and they'll do whatever they want."

Mr. Curtis and Mr. Lum both polled considerably more votes than the third candidate, dockyard chauffeur Lewis Haut, who was ill during most of the campaign.

The tension in the municipal hall Saturday night was as unprecedented as the by-election's peculiarity.

The crowd was watching the reeveship race on the blackboard, as municipal employees chalked up results telephoned from the polling stations.

CURTIS LANDSLIDE

Mr. Lum led the first few polls, then dropped behind as the Frank Hobbs School station reported a landslide for Mr. Curtis.

The lead started to seewaw, with Mr. Lum picking up towards the end of the evening.

It was close all the way, and the crowd held its breath as the last polling station results were chalked up and the "final" figures calculated.

But within a few minutes, the returning officer had called both men aside and notified them formally that he had noticed a discrepancy in the results.

Behind a locked door, with both men there, Mr. Hayward opened the ballot box.

"As soon as he took the white (reeveship) ballots out, we could see there had been an error," said Mr. Curtis.

"The two piles were almost the same height."

The telephoned figures were 722-425 in favor of Mr. Lum. Counting the ballots took about an hour, and showed Mr. Curtis as slightly ahead in the poll that originally figures showed him as losing heavily.

Few people were left in the municipal hall by then.

Mr. Lum walked out glumly, his hands in his pockets, through the room where an hour before he had been lifted in victory on his supporters' shoulders.

SHAKEN UP

Mr. Curtis told reporters he was "shaken" by the experience.

Mr. Campbell, who was defeated by a narrow margin at council elections in December, promised to work for a unified council.

Later, Mr. Curtis agreed with him: "I think many voters have been upset by constant council wrangling."

"Now, I want to get things in Saanich moving again."

LUM BALLOT PILE COUNTED TWICE

Only after candidate Ed Lum's supporters had joyously acclaimed him reeve did the upsetting poll error come to light.

When reporters began to tabulate results by polling stations, it became obvious that many more votes for reeve had been registered at Cloverdale than for council.

A preliminary check indicated that 331 more votes for reeve were cast, as compared with between two and 16 at other polls.

Returning officer Gordon Hayward saw the discrepancy when the ballots and forms were brought in from Cloverdale.

In the presence of both candidates, he opened the ballot box and counted the ballots again.

His official count concluded, Mr. Hayward corrected the unofficial blackboard counts to reduce Mr. Lum's total by 300.

Mr. Hayward told The Times that the error is unprecedented in Saanich as far as he knows.

He pointed out that no candidate had been officially declared winner on the basis of the early blackboard returns.

Mr. Hayward put down the mistake to a clerk's counting the same pile of Lum ballots twice.

He said there was no irregularity in the voting.

THIS JOY VANISHED for candidate Ed Lum and his wife when the counting error was discovered. A few moments after this triumphant picture was taken, Mr. Lum knew that for the second time in 10 months, he'd just missed being Saanich's reeve.

FIRECRACKER BURNS BOY, 7; COMPLAINTS FLOOD POLICE

Firecrackers went on sale in the city Saturday and within hours complaints about them started to pour in to police of all surrounding municipalities.

The first accident reported with them occurred early Sunday afternoon. Saanich police said Richard Bryan, 7, of 1740 Taylor, was burned by a firecracker that a youth threw at him.

The firecracker exploded under Bryan's shirt. He was taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital and discharged after treatment.

NDP CLAIM

More Doctors, Higher Income With Medicare

Doctors are earning more money through medicare than they did under private health schemes, a former Saskatchewan cabinet minister said here today.

A. M. "Sandy" Nicholson, New Democratic Party MLA for Saskatoon, said Saskatchewan doctors now earn more than the national average of $17,000 a year.

Medicare has also solved the problem of doctors to practise in remote rural areas, he said.

NO BAD DEBTS

"They have no bad debts to worry about," he said.

Their income is assured through the government scheme.

"The scheme is working well," said Mr. Nicholson, welfare minister until the NDP's defeat last April.

In spite of the forecast that doctors would leave the province, we have more doctors than ever before, more specialists and more doctors in small communities."

Mr. Nicholson is on a cross-Canada tour for the national NDP.

He said he has found a general feeling that the federal government should not waste so much time on a new flag, but should get cracking with medicare by implementing recommendations of the Hall Royal Commission.

NO CHARITY

"The Hall Commission showed poor people have more sickness and delay going to the doctor because they don't want to accept charity," he said.

Mr. Nicholson predicted all Canada will have medicare within 10 years.

He also predicted that Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher's Liberals will lose the next provincial election.

Mr. Thatcher has made statements recently that will be very unpopular in his home province, he said.

These include the statement that Canada can't afford medicare and a pension plan, and another that Saskatchewan would join the U.S. if Quebec leaves confederation.

He said Mr. Thatcher is afraid to call any by-elections and has failed to fulfil costly election promises.

Salmon Miss Their Curtain Call

The audience was at Goldstream River on Sunday but the big show didn't go on.

More than 2,000 persons—at least half of them children—scrambled along the banks to watch the spawning salmon but only about 50 were on stage.

A few cobs were spotted in the higher pools and some pinks in the lower pools.

Conservationist Freeman King reported they were in good condition and averaged about six pounds each.

The salmon returning now will spawn and die. Their offspring will leave the stream by next July and won't return until the fall of 1968.

The return of the salmon has always attracted weekend spectators but never such a crowd as Sunday.

It was the first day of the season for the Solarium Junior Leaguers to be on hand with their refreshment booth. By 4 p.m. they were sold out of coffee, hot dogs and hamburgers.

It is expected that by next Sunday there will be more salmon for a better show.

'Motor Menace' Hit by Ostler

Drivers Hit Hard With Fines, Jail

Stinging indictment of Victoria driving was delivered in central police court today by Magistrate William Ostler.

Referring to "vehicular violence" and "motor menace," the magistrate deplored driving habits that are causing "increasing public apprehension in this city."

He fined 19-year-old Jack Marynavitch, 785 Gladia, $400 for dangerous driving, prohibited him from driving anywhere in Canada for two years and tacked on a $25 fine for having no driver's licence.

$615 IN FINES

In other driving cases he levied fines totalling $615 and sent many to jail for 10 days.

Marynavitch was arrested by police at 5:30 a.m. Sunday after being chased by Saanich and Victoria police patrol cars at speeds up to 70 miles an hour over a half mile of narrow streets in the Finlayson-Rose-Kings area.

He told police he was trying to get away because he had no driver's licence, and finally stopped because he drove up a blind alley at 50 miles an hour to be confronted by a large rock blocking escape.

Mr. Ostler said "it has to be understood by people like you that there doesn't have to be injury or damage to property to constitute a danger."

'WHAT'S TO BE DONE?'

If the "vehicular violence" that is going on in the streets of this country continues, the magistrate said, "I don't know what's to be done."

Gunnwald Heggelund, 1966 Casa Marcia, was fined $350 for leaving the scene of an accident in which he repeatedly drove his car into one parked behind, jamming a woman driver's leg and foot in the driver's doorway.

Police said his car had been parked in Shelbourne Plaza. Heggelund reversed it against the open door of a small car whose driver, Joan E. Bertram, 4386 Chartwell, was standing on the pavement leaning into the auto.

REVERSED AGAIN

Her door closed on a leg and she screamed. The accused drove forward and the woman climbed into her car in time to catch her foot between the door and seat as Heggelund reversed again, striking her car.

Heggelund did this twice more, court was told, before the woman went to his car and said:

"That was my foot you were up against."

Heggelund, who had been drinking, appeared to be in a daze, she said. But she instructed him to stay put while she called police.

DROVE OFF

The accused drove away as she went to telephone. His car sideswiped another as it left the parking area. By-standers took his licence number.

Later that night Heggelund's car was reported in a ditch and he was located and charged.

Mrs. Bertram suffered bruises and damage to the car was estimated at $60, court was told.

Leonard Charles Nelson, 21,

of 3273 Wicklow, was sentenced to 10 days in jail when he pleaded guilty to drunken driving and fined $50 for being in possession of a switch knife with four-inch blade police found on him when he was arrested.

Police were called to Talmie Home Service, 3201 Douglas, after occupants of Nelson's car complained he was in no state to drive.

'GALLONS OF IT'

He had driven from a downtown hotel and when police arrived he was lying on a washroom floor fighting and kicking anyone who tried to restrain him, court was told.

When asked how much he had had to drink, police said he replied: "Oh, gallons of it."

He told Magistrate Ostler the knife was not his and he did not know where he got it.

Lorne R. Smith, 22, of 913 Victoria, was fined $100 for leaving the scene of an accident, $50 for careless driving and $75 on two counts of driving without a licence. He was prohibited from driving for six months.

Police said Smith drove on Cadboro Bay Road, swerved across to hit two parked cars causing $500 damage, stopped, surveyed the scene, then pushed his car to start it and drove away.

Albert Fern White, 2220 Cook, was fined $30 for careless driving.

Saanich Driver In Hospital After Accident

Roderick McMillan, 83A Sims Road, Saanich, was said to be in fair condition with a broken back at Chemsalus Hospital today.

McMillan and another Saanich man were injured when their car went out of control on the Island Highway near Chemsalus Saturday night.

The passenger, Victor Ward, of 83B Sims Road, owner of the car, was released after treatment for shock.

The car was a complete loss.

Railway Postpones Cut-Back

OTTAWA (CP) — The CNR has agreed to a federal cabinet proposal to put off its controversial run-through program at Nakina, Ont., and Wainwright, Alta., it was announced today.

Prime Minister Pearson said in a statement the federal government will appoint a special commissioner to study the CNR's run-through proposal.

A report would be made within three months, either freeing the publicly-owned railway to go ahead with its plan immediately or establishing a period of time for gradual implementation.

Mr. Pearson said CNR President Donald Gordon has agreed to withdraw the run-through proposal and withhold action on it until the examination of it by the commissioner.

The run-throughs involve putting trains through divisional points without the crew changes that formerly occurred there. It means longer runs for the train crews and transfer of some employees to other centres.

The CNR began its run-throughs Saturday night at Nakina and Wainwright. The move prompted protest action by CNR employees who booked off sick, thus hampering freight and passenger operations.

A railway spokesman in Winnipeg said it was hoped that normal passenger service would be resumed as soon as possible.

U.S. MOVES N-BOMBERS NEARER CHINA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has posted a squadron of 15 B-52 heavy jet nuclear bombers on the island of Guam—within about 1,000 miles of Red China, it was learned today.

The unpublicized move, made last spring, places the 15 B-52s about 5,000 miles closer to China than when they were based in the United States.

The squadron sent to Guam replaces a unit of older medium jet B-47 bombers. B-52s have at least twice the striking range and carry much more of an atomic wallop than the B-47s. The B-52s also fly faster and higher.

ROYAL ATHLETIC PARK

Fireworks Blamed For $100,000 Fire

By DESMOND BILL

Youngsters playing with firecrackers are being blamed for a $100,000 fire in the city Sunday afternoon.

The blaze destroyed the grandstand in Royal Athletic Park in less than an hour.

If youngsters didn't cause the blaze then it must have been deliberately set, according to fire department officials.

The fire started in the bleachers to the west of the old wooden grandstand. Underground passages running beneath the grandstand from the west to east bleachers acted like a wind tunnel carrying the fire.

And the blaze was fuelled by plastic and rubber hoses stored under the grandstand.

NEW PULP MILL SET FOR ISLAND

$60 Million Joint Venture

A $60 million pulp mill will be built at Gold River on Vancouver Island's west coast, Premier W. A. C. Bennett announced today.

Work will start Feb. 1 and the mill will be in operation within two years.

The mill will be built as a joint venture by the Canadian International Paper Co. of Montreal—largest in Canada—and East Asiatic Co. of Vancouver.

It will be in the name of Tahsis Co., at present a subsidiary of East Asiatic, with large timber holdings on the island.

COMMERCIAL CENTRE
The project will make Gold River the commercial centre of the west coast, Mr. Bennett said.

The mill will have an initial capacity of 750 tons of pulp per day.

Eventually it will be expanded for "diversified products," Mr. Bennett said.

It will employ up to 500 people with an additional 300 loggers in the woods.

They will live in what the premier called "a new model town" at Gold River.

It will be planned jointly by the company and municipal affairs department.

But it will not be a "company town," Mr. Bennett said. It will be open for general public development—a tremendous boost to the west coast's economy.

The project will also mean construction of a power transmission line from Campbell River to the mill site.

Gold River is 38 miles west of Courtenay, at the head of Micalota Inlet off historic Nootka Sound. It is connected to Campbell River by highway, part of which was built by the East Asiatic Company as a logging road at a cost of $2,000,000 for an eight-mile stretch.

HIGHWAY HINTED

The premier said the government will "take steps to see to a highway" — now a private road running east-west across the island.

15% Surcharge On U.K. Imports

LONDON (CP) — Britain's new socialist government, trying to head off a currency exchange crisis, today imposed an extra 15-per-cent duty on all imports with the exception of food, basic raw materials and unmanufactured tobacco.

At the same time it opened negotiations to make a huge draw of credit from the International Monetary Fund and announced plans to provide exporters with a small tax rebate — averaging about 1½ per cent of the value of exports — to stimulate more sales abroad.

Canadian officials estimated the 15-per-cent extra duty will hit about $350,000,000 worth of Canadian exports a year. Canadian shipments total about $1,000,000,000 annually.

REACHES ALL-TIME HIGH
They estimated that Britain's deficit in international payments — the balance between money coming into the country and the amount going out — would reach an all-time high of up to £800,000,000 this year. This deficit forecast is more than double what the previous administration had estimated.

Conservative Reginald Maudling, former chancellor of the exchequer, maintained that the estimated 1964 payments deficit includes "an element of exaggeration."

He told a press conference the forecast deficit, which would range to the equivalent of about $2,400,000,000 did not make allowance for important balance-of-payments items.

Apart from that, he seemed to be in general agreement with the principle of temporary restrictions, though he said he would have waited another month or two before reaching a decision to impose the curbs.

In fact, he added, he as chancellor made arrangements for imposing the curbs while the Conservatives were in power. He suggested the curbs should be removed as quickly as possible and not remain more than a year or two.

Economics Minister George Brown and Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan, who announced the new steps at a press conference, described the measures as short-term and temporary but declined to say just how many years they would last.

It meant that Britain once again was in deep economic trouble, buying more than she is selling and lacking ability to attract substantial long-term investment in this country.

"All this calls for immediate but strictly temporary action, drastic at first but less so as both the immediate measures and the longer-term policies

FLAG COMMITTEE CHOOSES DARK HORSE DESIGN

Red Borders, One Leaf Gets Nod

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A dark horse design of one red maple leaf on white with vertical red borders appears to have won a majority agreement in the 15-member parliamentary flag committee, an informed source said Sunday.

The source said the decision was taken in a vote last Thursday which gave the red and white design the edge by a 10-to-4 margin over two others which had been culled from thousands in the past few weeks.

The voting lineup was said to be six Liberals, one Conservative and the three minority party representatives favoring the single leaf with the remaining Conservatives opposed. The seventh Liberal, committee chairman Herman Batten, traditionally would be asked to vote only in the event of a tie.

The source said the government flag with its three red maple leaves and blue borders and another design containing a maple leaf, Union Jack and Fleur de Lis were eliminated in an initial vote which gave the single leaf unanimous committee support.

However, four Tories then backed away from the decision to formally recommend the design as Canada's distinctive national flag, the source said.

It is understood that the committee is scheduled to meet again before bringing down its report to the Commons Thursday.

Although the single leaf design may be the one recommended as Canada's flag, further meetings could leave the door open for continued negotiations and possibly greater unanimity.

There was no indication whether some change might be recommended to the government's resolution calling for the Union Jack to be flown for the Crown and Commonwealth.

Telephone calls to some committee members at the weekend were met by a wall of silence. They refused to confirm or deny that a decision had been reached and one would not even say whether the committee was planning to meet again.

B.C. Forest Industry Gets Blow

By FRANK RUTTEN
Times Legislative Reporter

B.C.'s export trade will be seriously hurt by a new 15 per cent British surcharge, Trade Minister Ralph Loffmark said today.

"This is a sad day for us," he said.

"The B.C. economy is going to suffer because our largest exports have been in the fields in which controls are being imposed."

Hardest hit will be the forest industry.

B.C. last year sold $147 million worth of good to Britain—most of them forest products.

In return B.C. bought only $47 million worth of British produce.

SLIPPED NOTCH

Britain has already slipped from B.C.'s number two customer to number three, he added.

"This decline is going to accelerate," he predicted.

Mr. Loffmark said B.C. faces increasing tariffs everywhere, and it will be increasingly hard to find overseas markets.

"The answer is for Canada, the U.S. and Britain to get together and make a new effort to bring down tariffs and increase mutual trade," he said.

"The protective greenhouse wall of tariffs produces an artificially weak plant."

Last year B.C. sold $41.8 million worth of lumber to Britain.

Stonemason Perches on Bridge In New Compensation Protest

VANCOUVER (CP)—A stonemason seeking changes in the Workmen's Compensation Act perched on a tower of Lions Gate Bridge for more than three hours today in a dramatic bid for redress.

Gert Larsen, 34, finally climbed down safely from the tower after Attorney General Robert Bonner promised to look into the matter.

It was Larsen's third attempt to bring the matter to a head. Traffic across the bridge spanning the harbor was slowed as police and firemen tried to get Larsen to come down from the tower, about 50 feet above the deck of the bridge.

Larsen made other bids Sept. 16 and Oct. 8 when he sat on the steps of the legislative buildings in Victoria on two separate occasions. He refused to take food until Mr. Bonner gave him a promise an inquiry would be held into the Compensation Act.

INJURED BACK
Larsen, who said he suffered a back injury while working four years ago but has been unable to obtain compensation, said he wants a change in the law so that decisions of the workmen's compensation board can be appealed in court.

He said he was not doing this entirely for himself. He said hundreds of other workmen found themselves in similar predicaments.

Larsen said at least two persons who were unable to obtain compensation from the board killed themselves out of despair.

When Larsen climbed to the bridge tower about 5:30 a.m. today, he left a note on the seat of his parked truck saying he would not come down until Mr. Bonner set up a tribunal to consider cases such as his.

Contracted by reporters, the Attorney General repeated earlier statements that the royal commission inquiry still was under way but he said the possibility of setting up a tribunal would be "looked into."

Larsen then agreed to climb down.

EXPECTED AT NEXT SESSION

Instant Laws for Instant Towns

NANAIMO—New legislation is being formulated to cover B.C.'s "instant towns."

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell told a community planning seminar here Saturday the legislation "very probably" will be introduced at the legislative session opening in January.

The laws will establish an administrative method for the "unique communities" rising in isolated areas, he said.

The minister said the communities are being developed in the wake of tremendous growth of mining and forest industries on northern Vancouver Island, Queen Charlotte Islands and the northern half of the province.

The minister said the department of municipal affairs is anxious to avoid the type of company town that follows this kind of industrial growth. He said it is not desirable to wait for time-consuming growth to take place.

Mr. Campbell said legislation dealing with these "instant towns" would make possible provision of town planning for the new communities.

He said legislation dealing with joint services for organized and unorganized communities also would probably be introduced.

The minister said administrative devices set up years ago "are not the ones upon which we can base the next ten years of growth in this province."

"The administrative devices of local government would shatter with a doubling of population," he said, and offered amalgamation, extension of boundaries and provision of joint services as the answers to the problem.

Dr. Gerald Bonham, director of the Central Island health unit, told a community planning seminar here improved planning could limit the effects of air pollution.

He said that within a two-mile radius of pulp mills there is no way of controlling odors.

"If this is so, should a planning approach to our urban areas guarantee a separation of at least two miles between the mill and the city?"

Although industrialists have challenged the idea that the odors are a hazard to health, Dr. Bonham asked if it wouldn't be better to play safe by separating new industrial developments from established centres of population.

He further urged planners to use more foresight in deciding the location of schools where there are busy highways.

101-Day Vigil Beside Lung

Ruth Tugwell has kept a 101-day vigil beside her long-time friend, halibut fisherman George Hillier, lying in an iron lung at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

But it still has not been determined if he has polio. Doctors are awaiting results of tests.

Miss Tugwell came here from Uclulet July 22 when Mr. Hillier was brought in for suspected polio. For four to six hours a day she sits beside him.

"I just couldn't stand to see him here like this and alone," she said. "It would not be right."

"George has been taking it so well. He is still as cheerful as ever and I only keep him company."

He says he will be out of hospital by Christmas.

"I've got a bottle saved up at home to celebrate with."

Doctors aren't so sure, at least until tests show he has not got polio.

If the tests show he has polio, it will be the first reported case in B.C. for more than two years.

Boy Breaks Leg In Car Collision

DUNCAN—Murray Braithwaite, 13, received a broken leg when knocked down by a car near his Gibbins Road home Sunday.

He cycled out of a driveway into the path of the car driven by Windsor Douglas Prangley of Duncan, RCMP said.

After emergency treatment at King's Daughters' Hospital he was taken to Victoria Royal Jubilee to have a skull injury checked but it was found he only suffered slight concussion.
